TURKS TO ACCEPT DECISION OF THE ALLIES

LONDON, February 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Reed Pasha, delegate to the Constantinople conference, speaking in the name of both his group and that of the Nationalists, told the allied conferees at today's session both factions of the Turks would accept the decisions of the allies.

The attitude of the Turks made an excellent impression upon the conferees. Premier Briand, of France, declared after the sitting that the conference had gone a long way toward a settlement.

Abandon Hope For Rescue Of Miners

DUQUOIN, ILL., February 24.—Hope had been virtually abandoned today for the rescue of any of the seven men imprisoned by fire which started yesterday afternoon in a gallery of the Kuhlman mine at Duquoin, five miles south of here.

The fire, which is thought to have been caused by an electric wire coming in contact with a canvas curtain, continued to sweep the gallery, keeping rescue squads away from the vicinity where the miners were caught.

In the event other measures failed to check the fire, it was proposed to block up the gallery to keep the flames from spreading.

Legislature To Clear Decks For Inauguration

COLUMBUS, O., February 24.—Both houses of the legislature were working at high speed today to clear their decks for the inauguration of President-elect Harding March 4.

Senate leaders have agreed to stay on the job until Friday before recessing. All Monday after the inauguration, but Speaker Brethman insists that no recess shall be taken until the administration reorganization bill is passed. It is expected the bill will be introduced next Tuesday in the house.

Some of the house members wanted to adjourn at the end of this week until Monday following the inauguration, but Speaker Brethman insists that no recess shall be taken until the administration reorganization bill is passed. It is expected the bill will be introduced next Tuesday in the house.

Ford Plants To Resume In Full

DETROIT, MICHIGAN, February 24.—The Ford Motor Company plants will be in full operation in a few weeks, Henry Ford said today. Men are being rehired as fast as the company can care for them. Orders for Mustangs in March have been received, Ford stated, and the huge blast furnaces and tractor plants at River Rouge, have been set in operation.

Between fifteen and twenty thousand men are employed in the Rouge plant today. Three thousand men will be rehired at the Highland Park plant before the end of the week, bringing the total working forces in that plant to nearly 20,000.

Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes came very near being the "first lady of the land" and now it has been decided, by the appointment of her husband as secretary of state that she will head the cabinet social circle this term.

Washington society is an open book to Mrs. Hughes, who has lived there several years during her husband's career.

U. S. CLAIMS AN EQUAL INTEREST IN COLONIES

PARIS, February 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States government in its note to the council of the League of Nations on the question of mandates claims an equal concern and interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany and in their disposition.

This was shown today when the note sent by the American state department and laid before the council of the league yesterday was made public.

The council again took up the note this morning, considering it with particular reference to this claim advanced by the United States. Some of the other members held that America had forfeited such rights by withdrawing as an associated power from the supreme council. In the summary of the note, which was made public Wednesday, it was revealed that the United States declared it had never given its consent that the island of Yap, an important link in the chain of cable communications in the Pacific, be included in the territories subjected to the mandate of Japan.

The principal feature of the note, in addition to the points contained in the summary, was the American contention of equal right and interest in sessions.

Acceptance Of German Reparation Bonds On Debt Payments Difficult Problem For Congress And Nation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Congress will not act at this time on President Wilson's message submitting the proposal that the United States consider the acceptance of German reparations bonds in exchange for Belgium's debt to America of $171,750,000. Nor does the legislature expect any action until America is convinced that German reparations bonds are worth something.

This brings up the entire question of whether the recent decision of the allied Premier to settle Germany with an enormous debt is wise and whether America will accept German reparations bonds as payment for anything in the future.

The United States discreetly refrained from participating in the Allied Council at which the reparation settlement was agreed upon and has even hesitated to express approval or disapproval afterwards lest the present administration be drawn into a discussion of reparation questions which might be embarrassing to the Harding administration. On the other hand, the presentation to Congress of the proposal that German reparations bonds be used in exchange for Belgium's war indebtedness to the United States indicates a prevalence of considerable interest. If America accepts German bonds as a payment for even so small a debt, relatively speaking, as $171,750,000, would it be consistent for the United States to refuse to accept German reparations bonds as payment for the entire Allied war debt. That is the question which members of Congress are asking. The British and French point out that they would be even more generous than the United States for England and France stand ready to accept German reparations bonds amounting to 174,000,000 pounds or about $800,000,000 which is the combined debt of Belgium to France and Great Britain. If the British and French think the German reparations bond will be worth $800,000,000 why administration be drawn into a dis-

U. S. Army And Navy Planes Break Cross Continental Records

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA, February 24.—Lieutenant W. D. Coney, who started from Love Field, Dallas, Texas, at 10:14, central time, last night, on the last lap of his ocean-to-ocean flight, arrived at Camp Johnston, near here at 7:27 o'clock this morning.

Lieutenant Coney's flying time from San Diego, California, according to an official compilation, was 22 hours and 27 minutes for the 2,079 miles, an average of better than 98 miles an hour. The flying time from Dallas here, was eight hours and eleven minutes.

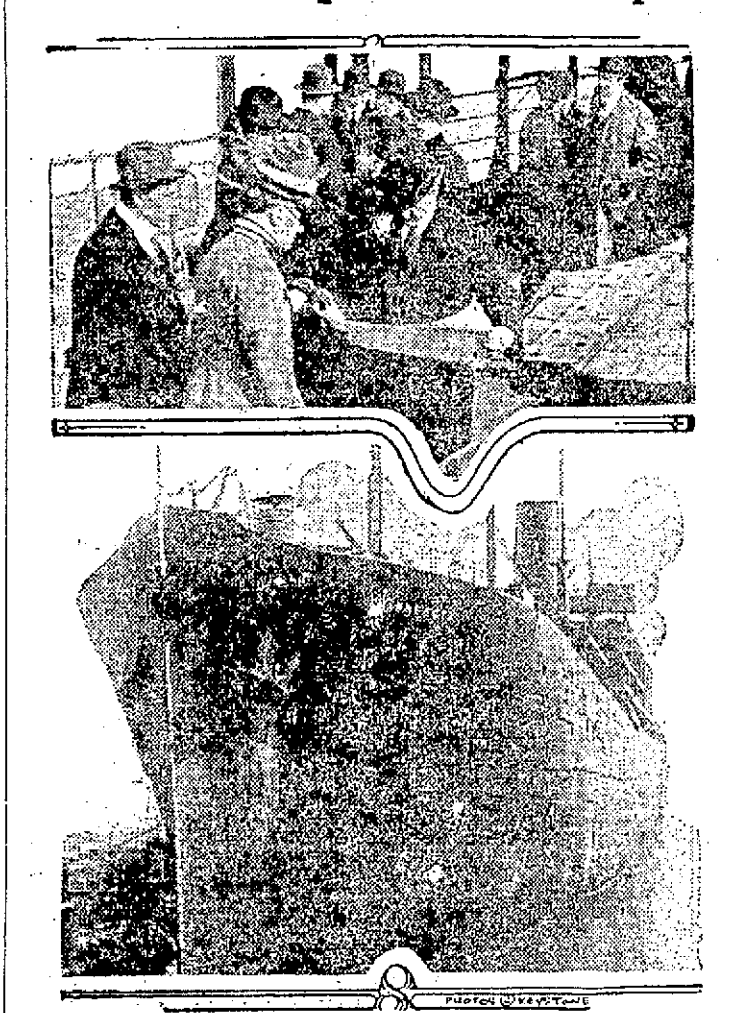

To complete his trip, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, Lieutenant Coney passed over the city on his arrival and dipped down to scrape the landing wheels of his plane on the beach, then swooped up again and went to the landing field. His time is believed here to constitute a new record.

With the exception of two hours, the flight from Dallas to Jacksonville was made in darkness.

"Not until I was over Mobile, Alabama, did I see a light," Coney said after his arrival. At times, he added, he made a speed of 150 miles an hour, but that the average speed for the trip was approximately 100 miles an hour.

Lieutenant Coney left San Diego Monday night in an attempt to cross the continent in 24 hours, the only stop being scheduled at Dallas. Forced to detour by rain storms, he landed at Brownsville, Texas, for gasoline, but defective fuel obtained there caused trouble and he was unable to proceed to Dallas until yesterday morning.

Huge Merchant Ship Rebuilt For Quarantine Purposes

The S. S. Minnesota, the largest merchant ship ever built in American shipyards, is to be turned over by the International Mercantile Marine Company for typhus quarantine service in New York harbor. This ship, which did splendid service in carrying troops and ammunition during the war, is now outfitted to accommodate 6,000 and will be used as a receiving ship at quarantine for incoming immigrants. Government and company officials are planning for the outfitting that will transform her into a valuable receiving ship for the immigrants. The move is being made in connection with the fight against typhus in New York city.

Jeffersonian Simplicity To Mark Inauguration Of Harding, Wilson's Retirement

BY ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
T. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 23.—While the cabinet awaits final decision President-Elect Harding has determined upon details of the inauguration at Washington on March 4. The customary ride of the President and President-Elect will be dispensed with. Mr. Harding will go to the capitol just in time to be sworn in at noon.

President Wilson will have gone to the capitol some time earlier in the day to sign the bills of the dying congress and thus to make them law.

It would seem from present indications that the outgoing President of the United States will cut less of a figure in the inauguration of his successor than ever before in the history of the United States. This is not due to any design on the part of Senator Harding, but inasmuch as virtually all of the inaugural customs are to go by the boards this year it would seem that President Wilson after he signs the bills in the marble room of the Senate will fade completely out of the picture.

Harding Pleased with Simplicity
Senator Harding declares that the more he contemplates the simple inaugural ceremony which is in store for him the more he likes the idea. At first it was designed that the inauguration of March 4 should be the most memorable in the history of the present generation, but Senator Harding put an end to this idea when he declared he did not think it becoming at a time when so many people were out of employment, there should be such a lavish show in Washington.

With the cancellation of the regular inauguration program there is every indication that the ceremony of next Friday week will want nothing in Jeffersonian simplicity.

Mr. Harding will arrive in Washington before noon on March 3 just about twenty-four hours before he is to be sworn in as chief magistrate of the nation. He will make his headquarters at the New Willard Hotel and it will be from that hostelry just before noon on March 4 he will make his way to the capitol to take the oath of office.

While no arrangements have been made to that end, it is the general supposition that Mr. Harding on the morning of the third of March will call at the White House and pay his respects to President Wilson. He may spend some little time in consultation with the outgoing chief executive, just as President Wilson spent an hour or two with President Taft on the eve of March 4, 1913.

Will Depend On Mr. Wilson

Denby Has Interesting Career

Edwin Denby.

"Who is Denby?" was the first question asked by persons unacquainted with the Michigan man, when his name jumped into the headlines a day or two ago for the first time as a cabinet possibility.

Edwin Denby, whose home is in Detroit, has had an eventful career in his fifty-one years. He was born in Evansville, Ind., February 18, 1870, and attended grammar and high school in Evansville. At fifteen he went to China with his father, who was there as an American minister. While there young Denby began ten years in the Chinese maritime customs service. He returned to the United States in 1894, and in 1896 was admitted to the bar after receiving his degree at Michigan University, and when the Spanish war broke out he served as a surgeon's mate in the navy.

His political berth was as a member of the Michigan house of representatives in 1902. He was a member of the national house from 1905 to 1911.

When the World War broke out Denby's forty-seven years didn't prevent him from getting into service. He enlisted as a private and was discharged a major.

During his six years in congress he paid particular attention to naval affairs and was a member of the foreign affairs, militia and judiciary committees.

Denby served on the committee that heard the case against Richard Ballinger, former secretary of the Interior. He was known as a defender of Cannonism and supported the Payne-Aldrich bill. After leaving congress he became interested in the automobile and truck business.

Cut Laborers' Wages 20 Pct.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., February 24.—A reduction approximating 20 percent in the prices of all laborers of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company will become effective March 3, it became known here today. Adjustments of the wages of tonnage men in conformity with the new labor scale also will be made at the same time.

The Jones and Laughlin Company, one of the largest independent steel companies, employs in normal times about 25,000 men. The new rate of pay will be 47 cents an hour, the present rate being 46 cents an hour. About 40 percent of the men employed in a steel mill are classed as laborers.

Birthday Greetings For Enrico Caruso

NEW YORK, February 24.—Birthday greetings continued in letters, telegrams and cable messages today were read to Enrico Caruso, convalescing from an attack of pleurisy and heart trouble, who will celebrate the forty-eighth anniversary of his birth tomorrow. The attending physician allowed the noted tenor to sit up while Mrs. Caruso read a portion of the felicitous messages. Mr. Caruso still has some fever, the physician reported, but said he hoped it would disappear in a few days.

COLUMBUS, O., February 24.—The state banking department today issued a call for the condition of state banks at the close of business February 21.

Cousin of President-Elect Dies

DES MOINES, IOWA.—Mrs. Marilla Post, 74, cousin of President-elect Harding, died here today.

Wants To Serve Where He Benefits The Country Most

NEW YORK, February 24.—Herbert Hoover declared in a statement today that he had left it to President-elect Harding to decide whether he could be of more service as secretary of commerce or as director of European relief.

In a statement dictated to the Associated Press, Mr. Hoover said: "I left it to Mr. Harding to determine whether he considered I can be of more service to the public as secretary of commerce or carrying out the public trust already entrusted to me as a private citizen."

Mr. Hoover announced he had put up to Mr. Harding a proposal for the general reconstruction of the department and an enlargement of its field. Asked if he would enter the cabinet, if his views were met, he said he had not "put it up to Mr. Harding in that way."

It was not a question of "take it or leave it," he said.

Other considerations entering into the matter, Mr. Hoover continued, concerning the European relief administration. He declared he had undertaken the responsibility of directing the expenditure of thirty or forty million dollars in Europe—money contributed by people of America—and he must continue to have general direction over that expenditure.

"As the department of commerce stands today," Mr. Hoover said, "it consists largely of a group of scientific bureaus which have only a remote connection with commerce, itself."

He added that if he should accept the position, he saw a way to make changes which would make of it "a real department of commerce."

WILSON TO RIDE WITH HARDING TO CAPITOL INAUGURATION DAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 24.—President Wilson will follow the long established custom of riding to the capitol with the incoming president on March 4, under plans of the congressional inauguration committee, approved by the president. It was announced today at the White House.

Whether Mr. Wilson will attend the inaugural ceremonies has not yet been made known. Should he do so, he probably will ride with Mr. Harding to the White House, but if he does not attend he will go direct from the capitol to his new home on S street.

Four troops of cavalry, numbering 350 officers and men, will escort the president and the president-elect to the capitol and then will accompany Mr. Harding to the White House.

From the White House the procession will move over Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol. There the president and probably Mr. Harding will enter the president's room, where Mr. Wilson will sign the bills passed in closing hours of congress.

After the new vice president has taken the oath in the senate chamber and has delivered his inaugural address, the guests will proceed to the steps at the east front of the capitol, where Mr. Harding will be sworn in. As soon as he finishes his inaugural address the new president will depart for the White House.

Mr. Harding will take the oath in a stand, thirty feet square, which has been erected on the steps. This stand will accommodate only the president-elect, Chief Justice White, the members of the congressional committee and a few others.

The other guests will stand during the ceremonies.

Besides marines and cavalry, 500 regulars from Camp Meade, Maryland, will be brought to Washington on the morning of March 4 for guard duty along Pennsylvania avenue.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN FEDERAL BUREAUS IS HARDING'S PLAN

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., February 24.—(By the Associated Press)—As President-elect Harding completes formation of his cabinet he is giving increasing attention to the first big administrative task he will undertake as president—the reorganization of the executive machinery of the government. Detailed plans have not yet taken form, but it is known that Mr. Harding has in mind sweeping changes in many of the government departments and bureaus and that he expects to enlist in the work of reorganization some of the ablest administrators he can find. He is understood to have told some of his advisers that he regards the chairmanship of the reorganization committee as post virtuosum on a par with cabinet portfolio.

One of the biggest innovations to be proposed will be the establishment of a separate department of public welfare, for which Mr. Harding outlined his plans in a general way during the campaign. He contemplates the transfer to this department of several of the bureaus now working under other departments, and in addition there are to be a number of entirely new bureaus to deal with various welfare problems.

A division of industrial research is to be built up, possibly taking over some of the present functions of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, to make a comparative study of prices and industrial conditions throughout the world. It is believed it will be possible, on the other hand, to abolish entirely some of the existing sub-divisions of the executive departments or at least to combine them with other agencies now duplicating a large part of their work.

Involved in the task will be many broad questions of permanent policy, such as the proposal to abolish the shipping board and put a different sort of executive body in its place. One suggestion that has been made to the president-elect is that the various government agencies, now dealing with shipping and railway problems, be brought together in a new executive department of transportation.

Selecting his cabinet members, Mr. Harding has kept the reorganization plans constantly in mind and from the

The hearing was then assigned for Saturday morning and in the meantime the defendant is out on bond. The alleged robbery occurred at a West Side camp a week ago, and Mrs. Steele complains that Houston extracted the money from a hole made by a knife in her silk stocking.

The only other case on the docket Thursday was Carl Windle, charged with speeding and it was continued when the defendant failed to appear.

LORD MAYOR OF CORK WARMLY GREETED HERE

Proclaiming the freedom of Ireland as a priceless victory that would be won with the aid and help of the local Irish of America, Lord Mayor Donald O'Callaghan, of Cork, Ireland, spoke a few minutes this noon to a crowd of nearly 200 persons on Tenth street near John, the Lord Mayor addressing the crowd from the steps of an N. & W. Pullman car.

He and Captain Monteth who is accompanying him, were more than pleased with the reception here, and arrangements were made at once by the local organization of the Friends of Irish Freedom for the Lord Mayor to speak here, probably March 2. He has this date open and everything possible will be done to get a hall for this date here. J. F. Russell, representing the local Irish organization, invited the distinguished visitor to speak here.

When the Lord Mayor stepped from the train here he was met by a reception committee from Ironton. In this committee were Mayor Thomas L. Collett, who headed the delegation, Mrs.

W. A. King, Mrs. Anna O'Leary, Mrs. Frank McCarthy and Mrs. Nora Kinney of Ironton, Father O'Reilly and T. J. Garity of Parkersburg. They went aboard the train here and accompanied the Lord Mayor to Ironton, where he will deliver an address tonight. The G. I. traction car from New Boston is expected to carry a large number of Portsmouth persons to the Ironton meeting.

The Lord Mayor was kept busy this morning. He spoke in St. Mary's auditorium at Chillicothe this morning to a big crowd and at the different N. & W. stations along the way had a few words with friends of the Irish cause.

After spending a few minutes shaking hands with the large number who greeted him here the Lord Mayor, at urgent requests, ascended the steps and gave a short talk in which he spoke of the present conditions of Ireland, brought about in the fight for freedom and how the cause would be finally won with the Irish of America doing their part. In part he said:

"I am glad to see the interest manifested here through the goodly number here. Ireland needs your help today. By your earnest endeavors you can help. A great deal rests with America. America can put a stop to the bloodshed of Ireland today. The responsibility rests with you. You can make the cause one worthy of admiration." He called upon the Irish organizations everywhere to do their part in this way in helping Ireland secure her freedom.

The Lord Mayor and party will return to Columbus Friday.

Child Badly Burned; Will Recover

PRESIDENT MEETS WITH CABINET FOR FIRST TIME IN TWO YEARS

For the first time in two years, and probably for the last time, President Wilson met with the members of his official family in the cabinet room of the White House executive offices recently.

The members of the cabinet had been prevailing upon President Wilson to have a photo taken, and he finally consented to pose. Starting with the president and going around the table at his right are the secretaries: State, Bainbridge Colby; war, Newton D. Baker; postmaster general, Albert S. Burleson; interior, John Barton Payne; commerce, Joshua W. Alexander; labor, William B. Wilson; agriculture, Edwin M. Meredith; navy, Josephus Daniels; attorney general, A. Mitchell Palmer, and treasury, David F. Houston. The picture is the latest one of the president and shows clearly how he has aged.

When her clothes caught fire from a trash paper fire her mother had started in the back yard Dorothy May Bungardner three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bungardner, 818 Eleventh street, was seriously burned from the top of her head to the middle of her thighs. Although the burns are of a serious nature it is not thought that they will be fatal. The victim is conscious and it is not thought she inhaled any of the flames.

Mrs. Bungardner started the burning of trash paper in the back yard just before the noon hour. She had watched the fire get a good start and before going in the house looked around to see if any children were about. She had been in the house only a few minutes when she was attracted to the back door by the screams of Dorothy May whose clothes had ignited from the trash fire when she ventured too close to the flames.

The mother opened the kitchen door just a second too late to grab the child to keep her from running around the house. The frightened child made her way to the side door of the house, the mother finding the little girl there pounding on the door to get in. By the time the mother reached the side door the child had slipped inside trying to escape the flames. The child was a flannel dress and it burned quickly. The underwear was burning about the upper part of the body when the parents tore the burning clothes from the child. A call to Dr. W. A. Quinn brought him to the home in a few minutes and he applied soothing lotions. He found the worst burns on the front of the little body, the burns extending from the forehead to the thighs, the parents getting the burning clothing off before the clothing about the child's legs got on fire.

The child's right ear and the right side of her face were burned more than any other part of her body. The child was removed to Hempstead Hospital late this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bungardner had slight burns on their hands. When the parents tore the burning clothes from the child they fell on the floor, and the carpet was slightly damaged.

Rev. Spracklin Acquitted

SANDWICH, ONT., Feb. 24.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, former liquor license inspector, today was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the shooting of Beverly Trumble, an innkeeper, in a raid here last November.

The verdict was returned 55 minutes after the case had been given to the jury.

Had Moonshine; Is Assessed $1,000

A small quantity of white liquor was uncovered and seized by Federal Prohibition Agents when they swooped down on the home of Jake Saunders, 2312 Ninth street, Wednesday night and which led to the arrest of Saunders on a charge of unlawful possession.

The defendant on being taken before Squire William McManes' admitted guilt and the magistrate assessed a fine of $1000 and costs which Saunders arranged to pay and was released from custody.

Saunders was proprietor of a soft drink establishment at Eighth and Broadway streets until recently when the place was destroyed by fire.

Griffith May Be Tried In Pt. Pleasant, W. Va.

PT. PLEASANT, W. VA., Feb. 24.—W. H. (Holly) Griffith, West Virginia's most noted "bad man," was brought here under heavy guard via the Baltimore and Ohio railway at 2:45 o'clock Thursday morning, to stand trial for the murder of "Iron" Roush, riverman, whose bullet-perforated body was found in the water at Antiquity, O.

The convict, who is alleged to have killed a man and fired the state penitentiary at Moundsville, for a brief freedom that ended with his recapture in North Carolina after a sensational flight by motorboat down the Ohio river past Huntington, will be the subject of a legal battle on jurisdictional points.

The question, it is understood, that is to be argued before court here will be on the rights in the premises of the state to attempt prosecution of Griffith, in the county of Mason.

Marshall county is said to desire the presence of the convict to try him for the killing of a fellow-convict in his daring escape.

Every precaution will be taken to prevent the man, who is called West Virginia's "Jesse James," from escaping.

Griffith's most celebrated exploit was when he joined a posse searching for him in the mountains of West Virginia and helped "hunt himself down."

H. C. COPLEY IS FINED $1,000

Hearing of the case of H. C. Copley, proprietor of a soft drink establishment at 1024 Waller street, charged with unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor, before Squire William McManes Friday, resulted in a finding of guilty and the magistrate assessed a fine of $1,000 and costs.

The defendant arranged to pay up and was released from custody.

Copley was taken into custody Tuesday night after Federal prohibition agents and Sheriff Riekey found a gallon of white liquor and a pint of red in a search of the Copley home on Findlay street.

Wakefield Man Is Arrested

George Saylor of Wakefield was arrested by Deputy Game Protector, Frank D. Voorhees of this city and William Downing of Waverly, Thursday. The officers claim they found muskrats and possums in his possession. Saylor has been taken to Waverly, where a charge of taking fur-bearing animals without a hunter's license will be placed against him. His hearing will be held in Waverly.

Long Term Lease Is Signed

R. E. Lewis, proprietor of the Mary Louise Candy Company, took a long term lease on his building and will make extensive improvements in it. He will increase the ground floor space and will open three private dining rooms on the second floor, which will be handsomely furnished. He plans to have one of the most complete stores of its kind in this section when the improvements are completed.

The firm will also soon launch into the ice-cream making business, having purchased the complete equipment.

Wires Foretell Weather.

The varying humming of telegraph wires is claimed to give experienced observers a clue to the weather 24 to 36 hours ahead. A German statement is that high shrill notes are followed by heavy falls of rain or snow of short duration, and deep humming tones, by brief light rainfalls, while buzzing tones precede a change in the weather.

Cotton and Oxygen.

Because the hollow fibres of cotton are loaded with oxygen they burn with a quick flash. When you add to cotton, which is already loaded with oxygen, oil, which is also loaded with oxygen, the excess of oxygen is likely sooner or later to make the cotton "set into flame." That is how spontaneous combustion occurs among oily rags.

Possible Ancestor of Man.

The skull of an animal which, as shown by the teeth, unquestionably belongs to the great race which includes ourselves and monkeys, and which may therefore be that of an ancestor of man, has been dug up by the Smithsonian Institute in central Montana. But the institute believes the animal was not a monkey. So far as it is known there never were any monkeys living in what is now the United States.

Portsmouth Optometrist Ranks With Nation's Leading Optometrists In The Conservation
Of Eye-Sight

What optical science is doing to develop better vision. In the Literary Digest for February 19th there were two pages devoted to scientific eye-testing instruments for ap optical office and also explaining to the public what optical science is doing to develop better vision. It is interesting to note that a Portsmouth Optometrist is using these scientific eye testing instruments together with a universal automatic lens surfacing machine for grinding lenses which places him in a position to give the people of Portsmouth and vicinity optical service equal to any in even the larger cities. The Optometrist is A. W. Apel at 848 Gallia street, the only one in Scioto county who has passed the Ohio State standard examination and secured a standard certificate from the Ohio State Board of Optometry according to the Optometrist's record book which is on file for public inspection at the clerk of court office. The public over the entire nation is fast realizing that the Optometrist with the modern and scientific eye testing instruments and a standard certificate from the State Board of Optometry is the logical person to see for their eye glass needs. Some of Mr. Apel's optometrical writings will appear in some of the optometrical journals throughout the nation. He is also preparing writings to be distributed locally for the benefit of the public in the conservation of eye sight.

Now It Is First Baptist Church Of East Portsmouth

The Sciotoville Baptist church membership held its quarterly business session Wednesday night and one of the important matters disposed of was the changing of the name of the church from the Sciotoville Baptist Church to the First Baptist Church of East Portsmouth.

The entire membership was in favor of the change, the congregation feeling that the steady growth of the church should be reflected in the new name. Reports from the various officers and organizations were received. The treasurer's report showed a splendid balance on hand. The reports showed that the church has had a commendable development and growth in the last six months.

Missionary Rally To Be Held At Sciotoville

Quite a large number of Portsmouth people are planning to attend the missionary rally to be held at the Sciotoville Christian church Friday morning, afternoon and night. A revival is in progress at the church, and it is going along nicely with quite a number of accessions to the church, which is prospering under the able pastorate of Rev. Charles Reinhard. However, Friday will be turned over to the missionary rally and speakers of great prominence will be present. The chief speaker will be Mr. Erskins, missionary to Japan who is on a furlough and who has spent many years among the "yellow" men of the far East. He is one of the best known missionaries among the Disciples of Christ and a very fluent speaker. Rev. Turner of St. Louis and Mrs. Cunningham, associate editor of the World Call will be present as will Prof. Shiley, of Uthman college. The good women of the Sciotoville church have arranged for the entertainment of Portsmouth people who attend the rally. Special services will mark the three meetings and all in all the day is expected to be one of the best in the history of the Sciotoville Christians.

MRS. CULP.
Easter Sunday comes on March 27, this year.

A wholesome candy with dates is easily made, and is different for a change. Take the white of one egg and as much cream or condensed milk. Put on a platter and stir in enough confectioner's sugar until it becomes stiff enough to work out in pieces in the hands. Flavor with vanilla. Take the seeds out of the dates carefully slicing along the side. Stuff dates with the fondant and roll in granulated sugar.

Dear Miss Dolly—I am writing in regard to a birthday party I would like to have and would like for you to suggest what would be best for the party and some games that would be most convenient to play. One girl is married and the other is single and is 24 years of age and the other is 18; so please answer in your next column.

WHAT TO KNOW—For your ailment I don't think the treatment you mention would be the right means of correcting. You might send me an addressed envelope and I will tell you more than I could in this column.

Dear Miss Wise—Why is it that the rich people of this country can't give a working man enough money to live on? Isn't a working man worth a nice living, in this dear old country? He is the one that made the rich man rich in this country, so why don't they give him money enough to live on? Why can't they give him some work? Two days a week would be a great help to me, but he won't give it. If there is a place called it there will be plenty of room there for such people. I know a rich man in this town, who is what you call a good Christian, and I heard him give a talk in the church about the girls going bad in this town. He is the one that makes girls work for $4 or $5 a week. Can they buy clothes, shoes, and pay $4 a week for board? I think all girls that have to work should get more money than the men, but not as much as a married man. Miss Wise, if they would pay the girls more money we would have a few nice girls in this town don't you think so your self. Miss Wise? There's nothing in this world better than a nice, sweet girl and we can have more of them if the church people would do more and not talk so much.

A dream of a lighted candle is said to indicate a wedding. The dream of an extinguished one is believed to mean a funeral. When you buy candles in a dream, or make them, this is said to foretell merriment and rejoicing.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?
This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains so badly I could hardly stand up. I was white and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. BAKER, 4749-Duane St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backache, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," unduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old rest and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health.

Lemon and flame colored chiffon bathed in brilliantly hued butter-flies makes this charming robe for informal wear at home. It may be used for a tea gown or informal dinner gown.

Your Manners

It Is Correct

For men servants from the stable or garden to salute their employers by touching their caps with the first two fingers of the right hand.

For them to salute again when the interview with their employers is ended.

For the mistress of a house to correct the maid servants.

For the master of a house to correct the men servants.

To say "Good morning" or "Good afternoon" to the chauffeur of a friend in whose automobile you drive often.

It Is Not Correct

For the mistress of a house to listen to her servant's gossip.

For a butler to wear a mustache or a beard.

For the men servants of a household to wear white cotton gloves.

For the butler to wear his morning livery when serving a luncheon party.

For a butler to wear a white waistcoat, a satin-faced coat, hontoniers, patent leather shoes, jewelry, or to use perfume.

Mrs. W. S. Oldfield will be the chairman of the meeting of the New Century Club on Friday afternoon, Feb. 25, at 2:30 in the K. of P. hall. This will be guest day and a Kensington. An interesting feature of the afternoon will be an informal talk by Miss Alice Blake, who will tell of her trip into the Orient. Other numbers on the program will be:

Vocal selections—(a) "His Lullaby"—Carrie Jacobs-Bond; (b) "Sunbeams"—Roland—Mrs. R. G. Gilmore.

Duet—(a) "To Arms"—Ortipp; (b) "Processional March"—Ringnet—Mrs. B. F. Kimble and Miss Leonore Allard.

"Are you fond of Marshmallows?" Try Marsh's.

After this fashion the young people of the First Presbyterian church are being invited to a pleasant evening at the home of Miss Charlotte Marsh, 1520 Fifth street, this Thursday evening. Just how this daily collection will contribute to the society of the evening outside of the usual means by which an inner craving is satisfied, is not revealed, but it is quite evident that some one does know, and that is sufficient. The invitation is extended to all young people in the congregation.

The Queen Esther, of Trinity church will give the spectacular pageant, "From Darkness to Light" Sunday evening at the church under the efficient management of Mrs. Walter Gableman. A silver offering will be taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heading and daughter, Virginia Lee, of Twentieth street, have returned home from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Charles Grull, of Newtow, Ohio.

Mrs. W. T. Gray's Sunday school class of Bigelow church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. John Hardin, 637 Sixth street.

Mrs. C. N. Smith's class of Trinity church will meet at the home of Mrs. Clark Compton, 1635 Eleventh street, Friday evening at 7:30. All members are urged to attend for important business.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Williams of Second street entertained today their relatives, Dr. J. H. Phillips, of Birmingham, Ala., and sister, Mrs. William Davies of Chicago, who have been in Orway visiting with their sister, Mrs. Evan Thomas. They are going to Jackson to remain a few days with Mrs. Evan Williams, at whose home their mother, the late Mrs. Evan Phillips, passed away. Dr. Phillips is one of the best known educators in the South and is at the head of the public schools in Birmingham.

On and on the Old Sheep talked: "I knew I must get off that table or take a good pounding, so, in my mad haste to get off before the teacher reached me, I upset the basket of fruit. Then I ran against the pitcher and over it went, mixing with the ink I had already spilled. Every time I went to the edge of the table to jump off, it looked so far from the floor that I could not make up my mind to risk it, and each time I ran across to the other side to find a better place I upset something. At last the teacher reached the table and put out her arms to catch me, but she looked so cross I took a chance of breaking my neck, instead of falling into her clutches, and sprang for the chair which I had jumped up on. I struck it all right, but as I jumped off it overturned just in time to hit the teacher's shins and upset her as she reached for me across it. Of course the pupils howled and roared at the double mishap, which made the teacher angry and more determined than ever to catch me, so she called the boys to help me, by no means to let me escape by the door. I made a head, went through the border of potted plants that were on the edge of the platform, upsetting them so that they went rattling about in all directions, flowers and dirt spilling out and adding to the mess already made. I ran under the seats and then the chase began, girls and boys running and crawling in all directions trying to head me off, but I had the advantage under the seats, for the way was clear there, while they had to squeeze between them or to go around. One boy caught my tail as he reached for me while he lay on his back under the seats, but I pulled him and my tail slipped through his fingers; then I made for the door, which some one had opened, and slipping between a boy's legs I at last made my escape, leaving the teacher scolding, the guests laughing, and the children fairly uproarious with excitement.

"I did not stop running until I reached home, though I could hear little Fannie calling after me. That is the first and the last time any one ever took me to school or tried to have me take part in a tabern."

All the club members laughed and Bruno and Sheep howled with delight as only dogs can howl. Some people passing just then said, "Just hear those dogs!" Little did they know that the dogs had good reason to howl or that the horses and cows they saw standing so quietly under the tree by the wagon were at a club meeting listening to stories they would have liked to hear.

Drum With Harmonics.
Musicians find the drum an unsatisfactory instrument for lack of harmonic overtones. From India comes the description of a drum the parchment head of which is loaded with an aluminum composition containing finely divided iron. Such composition lies in a central circle. Around the edge a second ring-shaped membrane is secured and the effect of the loading is to produce good harmonic overtones.

Lucky Marrying Days.
With the exception of the 27th day, March is said to be an unlucky month to be married in. In many countries Wednesday is said to be the luckiest day of the week to be married, and if the 27th day of March comes on Wednesday, the couple who are fortunate enough to be married on that day will be kind and loving to each other to the end. They will also acquire great wealth.

A Man's Pie

Fresh—Delicious—Try it now

Just phone to your grocer or bake shop and say, "Send a Sun-Maid Raisin Pie," or make one at home according to the recipe below. You'll get the pie that men like best because of its flavor and nourishment.

The Raisins are Sun-Maids, plump and tender. The pie is baked so the juice forms a luscious sauce.

It's a man's pie—and a woman's, too, because it is delicious and easy to prepare. Healthful, too, for raisins are nutritious. Rich in assimilable organic iron, which brings the tint of roses to women's and children's cheeks. Eat raisins daily in some delicious form and you'll get all the iron you need.

Every first-class baker sells Sun-Maid Raisin Pie

"Service Above Self"

This is ROTARY'S Birthday Week

Rotary is an organization composed of business and professional men, each of whom earnestly desires to grow in capability for service.

Rotary's Motto is:

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

The word "profit," as used in the motto, is not profit in its popular sense, meaning pecuniary gain, but is the gain in character which the one who serves receives, as he develops into a bigger, broader, better, and more useful member of society.

1905 ROTARY 1921

In sixteen years, Rotary has grown to a membership of sixty-five thousand and is represented in more than eight hundred cities in five continents. Membership in Rotary has always been restricted to one member from each distinctive business or profession (although occasionally one additional representative from the same firm is permitted). This membership restriction is one of Rotary's greatest advantages. The varied membership secured in this way provides the widest possible number of viewpoints for the consideration of business and community questions. The only obligations imposed by Rotary are: the maintenance of high business standards, a militant good citizenship, an unswerving loyalty to one's Government, attendance at meetings, active participation in movements fostered by the Club, and active membership in craft, civic, charitable and commercial organizations.

Rotary seeks: The Betterment of the individual member.
The Betterment of his business (both practically and ideally).
The Betterment of his craft as a whole.
The Betterment of his home, town, state, and country.

Rotary's Relation to Community Service

The duty of Rotarians to their community is briefly put in the injunction: "Be a good citizen." Rotary Clubs continually survey the field of community life, in order to ascertain Rotary's opportunity for service.

As a general rule, the manifestation of Rotary's interest in community service work is expressed through the individual Rotarian's activity in the various local civic, charitable and commercial organizations. Where these organizations are functioning well, it is a Rotarian's duty to work with the officers of the various local organizations in the accomplishment of their objects. Where it happens that any worth-while community service organizations are inefficient or have become inactive, it is the Rotarian's duty to work with his fellow-members in such organization to make it thoroughly efficient and active in carrying out the purpose for which it was organized.

Many organizations have been strengthened and their spheres of usefulness enlarged through the activity of men who received inspiration in the Rotary Club.

Individual Rotarians in the various craft associations have aided in the formation and adoption of higher business standards.

Frequent public acknowledgement has been given by city officials and by the press for the assistance rendered local organization and local community movements by Rotarians.

There are specific instances, however, where service to the community demands that the Rotary Club shall act collectively, namely:

1. Where there is the need for a particular service for which there is no regularly established organization.
  2. Where there is the need for a service which does not properly belong to any other existing organizations.
- In both of such instances, the Rotary Club assumes the duty and works for the accomplishment of the service. With this limitation on concerted Rotary action so clearly defined, it is apparent that Chambers of Commerce and other local or civic or charitable organizations need have no fear that Rotary will ever attempt to usurp any of their chosen functions.

As a few examples of collective Rotary action, note:

1. War-time services for soldiers and sailors at home, en route, in the camps, and abroad. The British Rotary Clubs acted as hosts to the American and Canadian Expeditionary Forces quartered in the British Isles.
2. Organized efforts against vice in the territory surrounding Army cantonments in the Fit-to-Fight Campaign in the United States.
3. Activity of all Rotary Clubs in Boys' Work, supplementing the local agencies in new needs, new work, or emergency services. Aside from these distinctly club activities, every Rotarian is urged to assist all worthy Boys' Work Organizations and movements. Rotary considers Boys' Work one of its greatest opportunities for service.
4. The "Cross at Crossings" Campaign inaugurated to save pedestrians from injury or death at Philadelphia, Pa.
5. The Rotary Club acting for the United States Government as sales agents of excess Government food stocks in the campaign against the high cost of living in Wheeling, W. Va.
6. Supplying crippled children of the poor with artificial arms and legs in Syracuse, N. Y. and Toledo, Ohio.
7. Creating cordial relations and better understanding between the city man and the farmer at Vincennes, Ind., etc., etc., etc.

As regards the relation between capital and labor, or, more properly expressed, as the Relation between Employers and Employees, it is the duty of every Rotarian to "set his own house in order"; that is, to establish intimate, friendly and cordial relations between the management and the employees. Hundreds of Rotarians have done this, and, assisted by Committees from among the employees, have worked out more equitable distributions of the profits, splendid welfare plans for the employees and their families, and a wonderful spirit of co-operation.

It is not Rotary's function to attempt to solve the question of "open shop," wage scales, hours of labor, etc.

The Rotary Club does not act as a collecting agency for the raising of money for charitable or community needs, but it inspires its members to serve on Committees organized for this purpose. Rotarians were active on all wartime and Liberty Loan drives. No worthy money-raising campaign ever lacks the assistance of Rotarians.

Rotary rarely expresses itself through resolutions, nor do the local Clubs confine their actions on community matters to the mere passing of resolutions. When it does occur that an expression of opinion by resolution is necessary, Rotarian precedent requires that Rotary get behind the resolution and work to accomplish what it endorses.

Rotary is a non-partisan parliament. All subjects on which the respective political parties have taken sides, or on which the community has a divided interest, may be thoroughly discussed before and by the Clubs, but cannot properly be put to a vote to determine partisan Club action. The settlement of such questions naturally belongs to the local civic associations, in which the Rotarian members, equipped with complete and accurate knowledge of the issue through the discussions in the Club, take action in accordance with their convictions.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chandler, 2005 Jimmings avenue, have gone to Cincinnati, where they will attend the Masonic Conclave and where Mr. Chandler will be a member of a class for degree work on Saturday.

Mrs. W. O. Feurt received the members of the Wednesday Sewing Club yesterday for a pleasant afternoon, welcoming with them Mrs. Elizabeth Ash of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Louise Erdmann and Miss Margaret Crawford.

Little Ruth Mary Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Watkins of Fourth street, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Miss Olga DeMinko, who has been very ill with complications at the home of Mrs. George Matthews, on Rose Ridge, is in a critical condition and her father, Mr. Charles DeMinko, of Boston, has been summoned to her bedside.

Miss Helen Hall, of Seventh street, is home from a visit in Cincinnati.

Mrs. E. T. Schimmel, of Akron, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Rea Selby, of Sunnyside.

The five outstanding solos of "The Messiah" have been selected for the rendition at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening and will be very ably handled by as many well known local vocalists. The opening number will be the warmly prophetic Recitative and Aria (soprano), "Comfort ye, my people," sung by Mrs. O. J. Deitzler.

Karl Kappas will follow with the sombre bass recitative, "For behold gross darkness shall cover the earth," and the cheering Aria, "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light." Miss Myrtle Ziegler will sing that tender pastoral air for mezzo-soprano, "He shall feed His flock like a shepherd," which Mrs. Fred Winters follows with the appealing soprano air, "Come unto Him all ye that labour." For the finale, Mrs. Roy C. Lynn will render, "That triumphant and immortal soprano air, 'I know that my Redeemer liveth.' These are the choruses, which take their places in with the solos: 'And the glory of the Lord,' 'For unto us a Child is born,' and the mighty 'Hallelujah Chorus.' Mrs. D. C. Boyd will support the organ for each chorus of the piano.

Preceding the initial solo, of course, the organist, Mrs. J. M. Stockham, will play the overture to "The Messiah," and before Miss Ziegler's "He shall feed His flock," the well-known Pastoral Symphony, which suggests the night when shepherds watched their flocks. She will be supported in this number by Miss Alice Blake and Mrs. Albert Wilhelm with violins. The service begins at 7 p. m.

Mrs. John Mackee of Springfield will be here to meet the ladies of the federated clubs in the city on Monday afternoon at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Alan N. Jordan on Court street. Mrs. Mackee is a committee member of the state federation and will have a message well worth hearing for the women of the city.

The baby girl born Sunday, February 20, to Mr. and Mrs. John Benson of Mahert Road has been named Irene Virginia.

Mrs. Milton H. Longfellow was a guest at a delightful meeting of the Art Circle this afternoon entertained in the hospitable home of Mrs. Felix Haas on Fifth street.

Misses Alice Johnston, Pauline Oakes, Mildred Clayton, Ethel Oakes, Mary Nodder, Nell Griver and Edith Hudson formed a theater party with supper at the Mary Louise tea-room last evening.

Mrs. Fred Lorey and Mrs. Oscar Kahl will be the hostesses of the Johnson Club meeting Friday evening at the latter's home on Moulton Place.

Mrs. Fred Kuhlman and daughter, Pauline, have come home from Cincinnati, where they visited with Mr. Kuhlman who is recovering from a serious operation at Bethesda Hospital.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Effie M. Walker, assisted by the teachers of the Union building, had a delightful party at her home on Fifth street, honoring Mrs. I. A. McKown, whose birthday anniversary was thus celebrated.

The guests were seated at three tables tastefully decorated with sweet-scented carnations, plumosa fern and favors of red-white and blue. An excellent two course dinner was served at 6 o'clock, during which time Mr. Harold Walker favored the company with sweet melodies of old-time songs on the piano.

The evening's entertainment consisted of vocal music by Miss Cleo Bessler and interpretative dancing by Sarah Louise Walker. Mrs. Katherine Petrie of Jasper was also a guest and the occasion was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Dean and Robbin, children of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Boyd, who have been ill at the home of their parents on Fourth street are improving.

New Spring Hats Winsomely Styled

No one could blame a woman for wanting a dozen hats this season. There are so many bewitching new models offered for her approval. The minute you step foot into our millinery shop, you are aware of the fact that you are in a garden of spring models.

The numerous styles shown reveal spring itself in all their loveliness. Here you see a case full of the new tangerine shade hats, one more appealing than the other, and there is a display of navy models, and then, too, the gray hats and black hats and brown hats and sand hats all have a claim upon your attention.

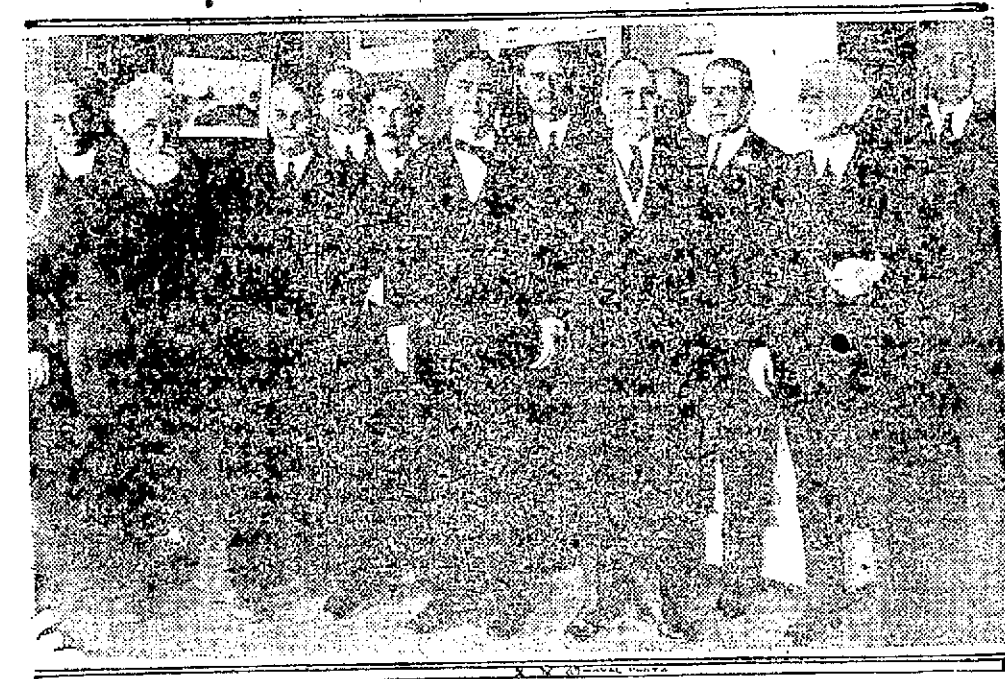

Such springy effects fairly bid hasty adieu to King Winter, and as coming events cast their shadows before, they portray the warm spring that is just around the corner.

Among the materials of which the popular spring models are made you will note pretty batavia, attractive hair braids, georgette and other fabrics as well as attractive combinations in both color and material. Flowers, ribbon trimmings and bandeaux effects add to the beauty of such shapes as the Continental, poke effects and the roll brims.

An attractive line of matrons' hats in hair braid and fiber combinations in black and navy in new models are to be found here.

NAVY CONSULTING BOARD PRAISES DANIELS' WORK

The board and Secretary Daniels. Left to right: Elmer Sperry, Hudson Maxim, Col. E. J. Arnold, Dr. W. R. Whitney, Frank J. Sprague, Secretary Daniels, R. B. Thayer, W. L. Saunders, Admiral Strout-Smith, Thomas Robbins, Dr. R. S. Woodward, Spencer Miller, Dr. M. R. Hutchison.

At its final meeting with Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, the naval consulting board, composed mostly of civilians, expressed its appreciation of Daniels' service as head of the nation's fighting forces. The board's resolution pointed out that Daniels was the first naval secretary to enlist civilian aid in preparing for the emergencies of war.

Rev. Chandler Leads Splendid Union Service

The Bigelow-First Presbyterian Union Prayermeeting last night at the First Presbyterian church was attended by a large representation of both congregations. Some time was spent in welcoming the guests, and the spirit of fellowship was potent for Bigelow folks are not strangers at First.

This was the first of the preliminary services which precede the evening of the Denarest party on March 6th for the Union Evangelistic services which will last until Easter. A marked seriousness pervaded the service evidenced especially in the ladies' prayers, indicating that the leaders of the church recognize the opportunity that lies before them and intend to make the utmost of it.

Dr. Chandler of Bigelow was particularly happy in his selection of a theme, dwelling on Paul's splendid figure of the church as the body of Christ, in 1 Cor. 12, laying emphasis on the 27th verse: "Now are ye the body of Christ, and severally members thereof." His own illustration of the familiar railroad communication ticket with each portion stamped "Not good if detached" was specially apt and to the point.

The sermon was very effective in evincing the mutual desire of both congregations for a splendid cooperation with one another, and a deep sense of

With The Sick

William Reider, of 807 Eighth street who has been very ill with rheumatism and blood poisoning, is in a critical condition and relatives have been summoned to his bedside.

A Home Essential.

A box of bandages should be kept in every household to use in case of accident. They should be bound from strong cotton cloth and wound tightly, but not too tight, and should be of various widths. Put them all into the oven for a short time to be sterilized, then pack into a wide-mouthed preserve jar. Screw on the lid securely and keep in a convenient place.

Has Nothing to Do With Porker.

"You have got the wrong sow by the ears," has nothing to do with the grunter in the yard, "Sow" was a large tub used for pickling or "sousing," and the word is often used in modern speech. The expression, therefore, means that you have the wrong vessel by the handle, lug or ear, or, as the Latin phrase has it, "you brought me the little jug instead of the great gosh." The French word "seau" means a bucket.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And it acts at once. Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it effect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 35c and 65c jars; hospital size $3.00.

PIKETON

PIKETON, Feb. 24.—Braving the old superstition, that a double wedding is unlucky, Mr. Pike county's most popular young people, Earl Steiner of Waverly and Miss Fay Snyder of Pike county, were united in matrimony at two o'clock, Rev. W. S. Fisher, pastor of the Waverly M. E. church performed the marriage ceremony. After an extended motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Argabright will be at home to their friends at their home on Second street, Pike county, and Mr. and Mrs. Steiner will entertain friends at their country home near Waverly.

Five reels of interesting and educational pictures were shown at the Community Movie at the Methodist church last evening. The first three reels were a pictorial history of the life of Thomas A. Edison and the last two reels were "A Trip Through the Cincinnati Zoo."

Underlaker C. M. Freeman and daughter Edith and Mr. E. V. Wheeler of Huntington and Mrs. C. C. Cummings of Pike county, spent the week end with friends.

Attorney G. W. Rittenour and T. S. Rittenour were business visitors to Chillicothe Tuesday.

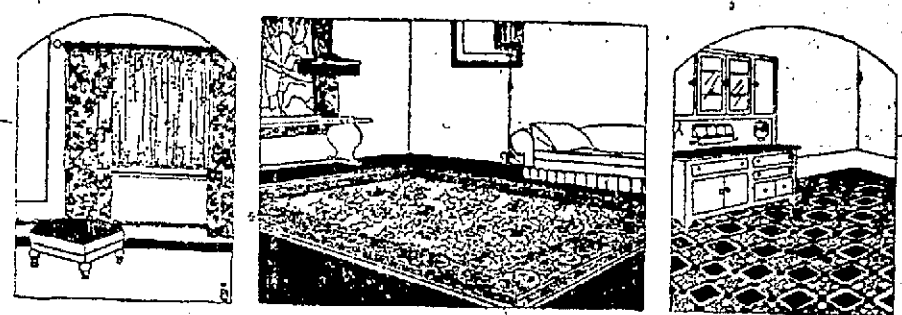

D. A. Brehm of the State Highway Department was in Pike county Wednesday, superintending the mending of a carload of two by fours which are to be used in the floor of the Pike county bridge.

The wedding of George Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Armstrong of Shilville, and Miss Leola Douglas, was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Douglas of Weston, Va. Friday afternoon, Feb. 18th. After a short visit with the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will return to Pike county where they will make their home on one of Mr. Armstrong's many farms near Shilville.

About thirty young people were present at the Washington birthday social at the Methodist church Tuesday evening. The church was appropriately decorated, for the occasion, with red, white and blue crepe paper and American flags. Each one present was given a crepe paper hat, which was made by the First and Second Grades of the Pike county schools.

THIS WILL BENEFIT WOMEN

Stomach trouble in women is often due to retained waste matter. This clogs the stomach for months causing gas on the stomach and sour stomach. The old, poisonous accumulation should be cleaned out with simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-Lka. Acting on BOTH upper and lower bowels, Adler-Lka removes matter you never thought was in your system. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach and chronic constipation. Guards against appendicitis. ## STOMACH TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS HEART

Could hardly breathe. Eats anything now, and does his farm work.

"For years I suffered with indigestion, constipation and accumulation of gas which affected my heart at times so I could hardly get my breath. I lived on raw eggs, toasted bread and hot water, and still suffered. I tried several doctors for three years, but since taking Mils Emulsion I have improved so that I can do my own farm and store work. I can eat most anything; have gained 10 pounds and everybody speaks how it has helped me."—A. Lincley, Rio Vista, Va. R. L. Box 157.

Indigestion is seldom cured by digestive tablets assisting the stomach to digest food. They like physics, pills, etc., make slaves of the stomach. Mils Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritious food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Mils Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose stomachs are weak and who are suffering from indigestion, chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved. It produces remarkable results in colds, coughs and bronchitis, etc.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Mils Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Mils Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

of doing the seemingly thing in connection with the inauguration. It is perfectly true that he and President Wilson, perhaps, are not on as friendly terms as were Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson, but Mr. Harding is not a man to harbor resentments or prejudices, and it will be his inclination if not his accomplishment to call upon Mr. Wilson and to discuss matters freely with him. A great deal of this part of the program will depend upon Mr. Wilson himself. Mr. Harding feels it would be too much of a show for him to go to the White House merely for the purpose of riding down Pennsylvania Avenue to the capitol to the plaintiffs of the multitude which may be gathered along that historic thoroughfare. He prefers the unostentatious route of getting in a hired automobile and driving directly to the capitol and, after completing his brief inaugural address to drive directly back to the White House. Mr. Harding said at a long time ago that if he could have his way about it, he would appear suddenly at the capitol, take the early train, and ride back to the White House in a street car. The street car part of the program is impossible. One or two of the White House automobiles undoubtedly will be placed at his disposal the moment he appears in Washington and it may be he will make use of very plain citizens and the "like plain affairs." He would rather have a few of his intimate friends about him on inauguration day than a host of strange admirers and transient well-wishers. According to present plans, a large number of Marion home folks will be in Washington on March 4 and if there are any ceremonies at the White House that day at all they will include the Marion folks. Senator Harding has done his utmost to discourage the attendance at the inauguration of any marching clubs or organizations of any kind. He says he will positively refuse to review a parade no matter how impressive it may appear. The Juneteenth which he has asked shall be confined entirely to his own family. Taken altogether, the inauguration of 1921 promises to set an entirely new record in quietness and simplicity.

Acceptance

cent the United States, it is argued, accept their judgment.

But the answer given here is that England and France would fare much better in the end even if Germany reparation bonds were accepted in the amount of $500,000,000 because the transfer from the Allies of the entire indebtedness to the United States to the backs of the Germans would relieve Great Britain and France of the greater part of their financial burdens today.

Even such a course is not considered outside the range of possibility if the German reparation bonds can be made to pay. But America has stayed out of the League of Nations and has thus far given no indication that she wants to participate in the enforcement of the terms of the Peace Treaty of Versailles or in the collection of the war indemnities from Germany. Europe, of course, would like America to accept German reparation bonds because it would make the United States seem more clearly the necessity of making Germany pay and would bring America closer to European political affairs.

On the other hand, American financiers and the men who have been advising the United States government ever since the Paris conference insist that it is the Allies and not Germany who must be regulated for in the end Germany must get money out of Germany. The Allies thus far have adopted a policy of strangulation which, from the American viewpoint, is bad business for the world irrespective of whether it affects the value of German reparation bonds.

America's position as expressed here is that Germany must be given a chance to get back on her feet and that if the Allies persist in the policy of draining Germany of her capital and leaving an export tax, for instance, that will interfere seriously with German trade opportunities, the Allies have as well as London any hope that America will believe the German reparation bonds are worth the paper on which they are written.

There is substantially no difference of opinion on this question between Republican and Democrats here. It is an economic and not a partisan question. President Wilson promised to submit the matter to Congress when he was in Paris. He could not refuse to do so without being disrespectful to Belgium. But Mr. Wilson's own message to Congress contains significant cant phrases which indicate that he does not believe the present at any rate a favorable moment for the acceptance of the proposition he is submitting.

Mr. Wilson's message says in part: "A recommendation at this time that suitable legislative action should be taken is somewhat premature, but in view of the approaching termination of my administration, I have brought the matter to your attention, hoping that suitable action may be taken at the appropriate time."

The last phrase, "at the appropriate time," means when Germany and the Allies reach some agreement as to the issuance of reparation bonds that will satisfy the public opinion of the United States. Mr. Wilson's message to Congress is a hint to the Allies that even though the United States may never enter the League of Nations, the reparation settlement must be along economic lines that inspire confidence in the ultimate ability of Germany to pay those bonds. Otherwise the United States will continue to look to the Allies for payment.

COURT HOUSE

Walter Will Probated.
An estate valued at $15,000 is disposed of under the will of Leopold Walter admitted to probate Thursday.

Mr. Walter, who died at his home in this city on February 7, 1921, bequeathed $200 to Rev. Louis Nonnon or his successors and the residue of his estate to his widow, Mary Walter. The will was dated Jan. 16, 1909, and it nominates Charles Walter, son of the testator, as executor and he has qualified as such.

The estate is represented by $10,000 in realty and $5,000 in personality.

To Administer Pray Estate

HARDING REFUSES TO ANSWER ATTACKS ON CABINET SELECTIONS

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., February 24.—Again taking notice of published criticisms of his cabinet selections, President-elect Harding said today that he intended to make no reply except through the acts of the coming administration.

"Our only response," he said, "will be action and service. Should we fail in that, then we would deserve to be criticised."

The president-elect's declaration was made solemnly in response to repeated questioning about newspaper attacks on several of the men he has chosen to place in his official family.

He would not comment specifically on the criticisms made against any particular cabinet selection.

While the cabinet slate is regarded here as virtually closed, the president-elect made it clear that changes still are possible. He said definite offers and acceptances were yet to be made regarding the portfolios of navy, commerce and labor, and added that it was in fact within the range of possibility that changes might be made almost anywhere along the line except for the two appointments definitely announced.

Evans Claims He Did Not Figure In Robbery

Relative to the arrest of Floyd Evans and Charles Burt of this city in Cincinnati, and who were brought here, the Times Star Thursday said:

"Efforts to sell a fine pair of field glasses caused the arrest of Charles Burt, 26, and Floyd Evans, 24, both of Portsmouth, O., by Detectives Center and Gerhardt at Pearl street and Broadway. Burt is said to have admitted to Detective Sergeant McNeal that he robbed a pawnshop in Portsmouth, O. According to the police, Burt said that he and three other men stole a safe from a meat store in Portsmouth in January and carried it to an out-of-the-way place, where they broke it open and stole $1,700. They were all arrested and released on $1,000 bond each. The police say that Burt declared he planned to jump his bond, and in order to get some money broke into the pawnshop, taking the field glasses, six watches and a pistol. Evans, who had no part in the robbery, was induced to leave with him. It is said, and they rowed down the river for a long distance. Finally they landed at some town, the name of which they do not know, and came to Cincinnati on an interurban car. According to the police, Burt said that he had pawned one of the watches and sold the pistol. He had one of the watches on his wrist. Police say Evans told of pawning two of the stolen watches and that he had two of them on him when arrested."

Chose an Easier Day

Harding had the days of the week for a spelling lesson. All went well, except "Wednesday," which it seemed impossible for her to learn. Being fond of an au-lie, she was promised a visit if she would write, telling her she would come Wednesday. But to avoid, so in despair she said: "I won't go Wednesday. I'll go some day. I can spell in writing, like maybe Monday or Friday."

Son, You're Looking Fine

The Most Glorious Sensation of All Is To Get Back Into the Game

Ask anyone whose nerves seemed to have gone to smash and the last atom of life apparently burned out of the blood, how it feels to come back. Ask the host of men and women who have used Reolo. Here is one of the most astonishing reconstructive influences ever devised. It is a marvel for the many ways it seems to act. And it acts almost at once. Safe, harmless, of food value, yet all medicine, it seems to have almost the quality of the most potent of all reconstructive influences. It increases red corpuscles enormously, takes the pallor out of the cheeks, contributes to the defense of the body against exhaustion, and intensifies the activity of the vital processes to such an extent that you not only look like a winner, you feel it from head to foot. Ask any clerk at The Fisher & Smith Pharmacy and any other leading drug store what a host of men and women have gained from this wonderful reconstructive strengthener. Get a $1.00 box of Reolo today.

Read what a Doctor, a Nurse and a Texan say about LUNGARDIA

Wonderful for Coughs, Colds, Difficult Breathing, Bronchitis, Etc.

The doctor says: "Since I have been dispensing LUNGARDIA I have found it my main standby. Time and again where I have prescribed it they tell me they feel better after the very first dose, and they will come or send back and say they want some more of that same kind of medicine I gave them before."

The nurse says: "I have personally used LUNGARDIA for deep seated coughs and colds, the first time during the influenza epidemic, when my condition was approaching a serious stage. The results were so swift, so effective and so lasting that I deem it a duty to recommend it to be in all homes as a preventative and emergency medicine."

The above statement from Mrs. E. Vonderhaar, having charge for the past five years of the obstetrical department of one of the largest hospitals of the entire South and Middle West. She is likewise one of the best known in her profession.

J. C. Cook of Frankfort, Texas, says: "I suffered with a cough as the result of influenza from October to April. I was unable to work from October 25th to May 15th. One bottle of LUNGARDIA completely restored me to health and to my work. Anyone can write me for verification. I can not say too much in its praise."

These letters, together with thousands of others, come unsolicited. "Guard your lungs with LUNGARDIA."

Coughs and colds are more playthings for LUNGARDIA; unequalled for relief. Put it to the test. For sale at your favorite store, 50c to $1.50 a bottle. -Advertisement.

Dryden and Pope. The style of Dryden is capricious and varied; that of Pope is cautious and uniform. Dryden obeys the motions of his own mind. Pope constrains his mind to his own rules of composition. Dryden is sometimes vehement and rapid; Pope is always smooth, uniform and gentle. Dryden's page is a natural field, rising into inequalities, and diversified by the varied exuberance of abundant vegetation. Pope's is a tetter lawn, shaven by the scythe, and levelled by the roller.—Dr. Johnson.

Read these important facts about one of the greatest of all energy-producing foods for your children

LEADING food experts will tell you that the food element that gives the greatest amount of energy to the body is just what Karo contains a large percentage of.

This element is Dextrose—the great energy food. You couldn't live long without Dextrose. Most foods you eat—such as bread, starchy vegetables, and all forms of sugar—have to be changed into Dextrose before your system can really use them as energy foods.

These are scientific facts, as any doctor or food expert will tell you

So Karo, having such a large percentage of Dextrose in it—may almost be called a predigested food. Send for the booklet mentioned below and read the interesting facts.

Yet Karo is much more than a wholesome nutritious food. It is a dainty, relished by every member of the family—on hot biscuits, pancakes or waffles for breakfast; baked in cakes, or used to stew fruit for lunch, or used to sweeten the foods served for supper.

Give the children lots of sliced bread and Karo. It's the most wholesome food you can serve them.

Your Protection

Don't be deceived by cans containing syrup that might look like Karo. Karo is on every can of original Karo—look for it and be assured of full-weight cans and highest quality.

FREE A booklet every parent should read. Tells all about the wonderful food value of Karo; explains the meaning of Dextrose and why children thrive on it. Sent free with the beautifully illustrated Karo Products Cook Book of sixty-four pages. Write Karo Products Refining Company, Argo, Illinois.

NEED OF NEW COURTHOUSE AND CITY BUILDING URGED AT C. OF C. MEETING

That the need of a new court house and city building is imperative and that steps should be taken at once to secure such buildings were the main points stressed at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Thursday noon held at the U. S. church with a goodly number of members in attendance. At the conclusion of the forum discussion was resumed. That Scioto County should have a new Court House and the City a new City Building, a motion was made by Dr. E. C. Jackson that the matter be referred to the Board of Directors of the C. of C. with the recommendation that a committee be appointed to see what can be done towards getting the badly needed new buildings.

WOMEN WAGE EARNERS WITH FIVE-FIGURE INCOMES ARE FAR MORE NUMEROUS THAN MERE MAN WOULD IMAGINE

One hundred thousand dollars a year is not a mean salary for a man, even if he is an expert in his line, but it is rather remarkable for a woman, and according to most men you might ask casually there are not "so many" women getting more than five thousand a year. Here is right where Mr. Merz Man is very much mistaken, for there are a goodly number of women, and young, good-looking women who are too, who earn five-figure incomes.

There are two young women, at least, who are making $100,000 a year, and it is a significant fact that they are both in the motion picture business. A pay envelope of $25,000 is most common, and $10,000 stipend is often attained. Scenario writing and cinema directing are the highest paid vocations, while the invasion of banking, advertising and sales fields proves almost as profitable to the women as it is to the men. In having proved her mettle by invading the business world, is proving her merits by pushing to the very front in the realm of the highest is making the same as a motion picture director. Jane Martin makes $10,000 as an advertising woman, and Miss Clara Porter makes on her large income as an officer of one of the large New York trust companies.

SCIOTOVILLE AND WHEELERSBURG

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church, had an all-day quilting in the church Wednesday. Dinner was served.

The Royal Neighbors will meet tonight at the Odd Fellows' Hall.

Alfred Tinker was a business visitor to Portsmouth yesterday.

Mrs. Z. T. Beloit and Mrs. Melvin Bentley shopped in Portsmouth, yesterday.

Miss Stella Stoltz of Lucasville and Miss Blanch Hazelbaker of Otway were the guests of Mrs. J. M. Smith of Portsmouth, Ohio, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Eastern avenue, who have been visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith of Lucasville returned home yesterday.

George Lemon attended the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Otway Township, which was held today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swartz left last Thursday for Volont, Ind., where they will visit friends and relatives.

Miss Anna Margaret Moore of South street delightfully entertained her Sunday school class of the Baptist church Tuesday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and the national colors. The evening was spent in games, contests and music, a dainty lunch was served at the close of the evening. Those who enjoyed the evening were, Harold Joiner, Robert Kotter, Robert Rice, Horace Brook, Merrill and Morris Litteral, Paul Fry, Charles Vinson, James Oiler, William Hickman. The guests were Miss Betty DeCraw, Elmer Oiler and Marcellus Dupre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marsh of South Fourth street celebrated their twenty-second wedding anniversary Thursday Feb. 22nd. The table was made very attractive with cut flowers and a large cake. The day and evening was spent in social club games and dancing. Those who enjoyed the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Wade and daughter Edna, Mrs. Horace Bester and daughters Mary Jane and Wilma, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wade all of Ironman, Mrs. E. B. Wade and daughter Gladys of Haverhill, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon R. Barrett and son Roy, The Misses Callie Korte and Clara Marsh of Portsmouth and Mr. and Mrs. March and son Gerald of Walnut street.

Mrs. J. N. Hudson has returned from Iron after a few days visit with her husband, who is employed there.

The Colfax Prayer meeting of the M. E. church was held today at the home of Mrs. C. M. Toulmin.

Mrs. Norman Adams who has had an attack of grip is better.

Mrs. Correll Barker of Portsmouth spent Monday and Tuesday with her cousin, Mrs. G. A. Preston.

John Oaks, Sr., is seriously ill.

Mrs. Raymond McCormick of Rhoads avenue, New Boston was the guest yesterday of her sister Mrs. Wm. George.

J. H. Bauer of Williamson, W. Va. is spending a few days with his daughter on his farm on Dorwood Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCormick will leave March 7 for Hartford, Cal.

with the Chamber of Commerce claiming that it had not succeeded in bringing more factories or industries here. He said that the C. of C. was organized to make Portsmouth brighter, better and lastly bigger and that the time now must be spent in making it brighter and better. Two good steps would be the erection of a new court house and a city building which would reflect the beauty of the city, concluded Mr. Harold.

Attorney Frank W. Moulton followed Mr. Harold on the floor and in his discussion gave many statistics showing the value of records kept at the court house and how useless it would be to try to replace them should they be destroyed by fire. He stressed the importance of the proper housing of the valuable records and documents and gave figures showing how it was possible to secure a new court house with but little cost to the taxpayers. He urged that steps be taken at once to get the vote of the people on the matter so that work could begin immediately and that the building would be a low level and when labor would be plentiful.

Probate Judge N. B. Gilliland was the fourth speaker and he spent a few minutes telling of the age of the building and how easy it would be for it to catch fire and destroy priceless records.

The last 15 minutes was given to an open discussion of the subject no one present caring to take the negative side. The speakers spent considerable time on the court house proposition giving but little time to the need of a city building.

First Studies of the Human Body.

Early studies in human anatomy were conducted under many difficulties. Aristotle was among the first to study the human body, about 350 B. C. Through all the years there was objection to dissection of bodies to verify facts, and when Titian designed and had completed the first anatomical plates they were destroyed by Vesalius, about 1538.

Advice.

Never interrupt a man when he is telling you his troubles. The pause may give him time to recollect some more.—Boston Transcript.

Cubs Are Off For California

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The Chicago Cubs started their migration to their summer training camp at Catalina island, California, today, the first contingent including the team's recruits. Only one of the veterans of the team, Ed George Tyler, is a veteran of the team. The Cubs' infielders and outfielders will follow next week.

Troop 3 Wins Double Header

Troop 3 won a double header last night when their Juniors and Bantams teams won from Troops 12 and 5, respectively.

The game between the Junior teams was fiercely contested, though the score 26 to 10 was one sided. As usual, Ralph Monk, Captain of Troop 3 handled his Scouts like a general, and what he said went. Troop 12 played hard, Schneller being the best shot at the basket.

The lineups were:

Troop 3	Troop 12
Broadbeck..... RF	Schneller.....
Kaylor..... LF	Gordley.....
Monk..... C	Flowers.....
Green..... 1B	Deatley.....
Muller..... 3B	Smith.....

Troop 3's Bantam team, under the leadership of their new Captain, Howard Hunter, won a glorious victory over Troop 9. Their forwards, Hunter, R. Sandler and Blake had gotten their shooting eye back, and had the score 18 to 9. Blake playing an especially good shooting game.

The lineups were:

Troop 3	Troop 9
R. Sandler..... RF	Thompson.....
Sandler-Blake..... LF	Coe.....
Hunter..... C	Hayes.....
Fattermeyer..... 1B	Watson.....
Shaw..... 3B	Arnold.....

Word of Norman Origin.

Our word helmet is really the diminutive form of the old Norman "healme" and means a little helm. The tendency of the French language was to drop the "h" and to substitute a long "o" sound, and so we got heume. The heumers or heumers of medieval England were makers of helmets and the word has come down to us as the surname Homer.

MR. GOODMAN PLAYS PENITENT N. C. Feb. 24.—A field of 75 took part in the first annual penitentiary flag contest at Portsmouth today and were taken into camp by T. S. Wheeler of Augusta, Maine, whose liberal handicap of 26 strokes allowed him to carry his flag far from the reach of pursuit and to erect it on the solitary grandeur on the twentieth green. Wheeler was the only one of the 75 to pass the eighteenth green. George A. Goodman, who represented Portsmouth in the fray was one of a large number of contestants who carried their banners as far as the sixteenth green and couldn't get any further.

FOR EXCESSIVE URIC ACID TRY THE WILLIAMS TREATMENT 75c Cent Bottle (32 Doses) FREE

Just because you don't feel any day worried and tired, stiff legs and arms and muscles, an aching head, burning and bearing down pains in the back—worn out before the day begins—do not think you have to stay in that condition. Be strong, well, with no stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatic pains, aching back or kidney trouble caused by body made acids. If you suffer from bladder weakness, with burning, scalding pains, or if you are fat and out of half a dozen times a night, you will appreciate the rest, comfort and strength this treatment should give. To prove the Williams Treatment conquers kidney and bladder disease, rheumatism and all other ailments when due to excessive uric acid, no matter how chronic or stubborn, if you have never tried the Williams Treatment, we will give you one bottle of the medicine free if you will cut out this notice and send it with your name and address. Please send 10 cents to help pay postage, packing, etc., to The Dr. J. C. Williams Company, Dept. T-100, P. O. Building, East Hampton, Conn. Send at once and you will receive by parcel post a regular 75c bottle, without charge and without incurring any obligation. Only one bottle to the same address or family.

Encourages Infection.

Dr. Eric Leitch suggests in the Practitioner (London) that eating too much carbohydrate material makes persons susceptible to infectious diseases. This is important to mothers of young children, as it means that they should restrict the quantity of starchy and sugary foods that their offspring eat.

THE MOVIES

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN in "THE DAUGHTER PAYS" A LITVICK PICTURE

Elaine Hammerstein Has Strong Drama in "The Daughter Pays." This New Seznick Picture Contains a Convincing Story Done in the Original Way at the Lyric Theatre.

Elaine Hammerstein the popular, beautiful and talented Seznick star, will again be the principal attraction at the Lyric theatre, this time in her latest and strongest photoplay, "The Daughter Pays," an adaptation of the story by Mrs. Bessie Reynolds. Robert Ellis, who is responsible for Eugene O'Brien's last two big screen hits, directed Miss Hammerstein in "The Daughter Pays," and he also plays an important role in the production.

The plot in brief: deals with the revenge of a monomaniac upon the woman who had slighted him in earlier years, but which he has never forgiven or forgotten. The man, Gabriel Guant, was filled by his fiancée because of a rival who possessed great wealth. At the time the story opens the wheel of Fortune had turned, and Guant is now wealthy, and his old sweetheart is a widow with three growing children and a very meagre income. Guant conceives the idea that he will marry the daughter and then proceed to make her existence as miserable as his fantastic imagination can conceive. Part of the plan proceeds as per schedule; he marries the daughter, but from then on the situation takes an unforeseen turn. The outcome of it all will be shown in what is said to be one of the most brilliant bits of screen fiction seen for some time.

Also a good comedy, Clyde Cook in "Don't Tickle."

Saw Grandmother's Hand.

Julie has heard her mother say that grandmothers spoil children by letting them have their own way too much. So when she came home from playing with the new neighbor's child the other day and was asked how she liked her, she replied: "Oh, all right; but I guess that her grandmother must have brought her up."

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder-ful quick result. Really and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. Tonight Is Positively Your Last Chance to See Harry Carey, the Premier Western Actor in "Hearts Up!" at the Eastland Theatre. Also Showing "Heads Win," a Kansas Interest Story and "Puppy Love," a New Century Comedy.

Program Tonight

- A—Overture—Eastland Orchestra.
- B—Harry Carey in "Hearts Up."
- C—Baby Ivy Ward in "Heads Win."
- D—Brownie, the wonder dog, in "Puppy Love."

An evening of skillfully blended entertainment awaits playgoers at the Eastland Theatre where "Hearts Up!" started last night as the principal attraction.

The story of "Hearts Up!" stars Harry Carey in his most appealing screen characterization. He holds the foreground as a man who poses as the father of a lovely girl to keep from her the knowledge that her father has died. How he innocently begins the deception and finds himself in serious trouble as a result, brings the story to its thrilling climax where the plot turns drastically and in a most unexpected manner.

Harry Carey wrote the story as a personal starring vehicle and selected an admirable cast to play the principal roles.

Of particular interest in the company is pretty Mignonne Golden, a comparative novice of the silent drama who brings to the screen a delightful personality and sincere dramatic ability. The young girl plays the heroine of the story satisfactorily.

- D—Pathe Review—Amusing and Interesting.

The U. C. L. which we have been hearing so much about has nothing on the high cost of producing and showing film dramas for the patrons of Eastland theatre. Take an instance from "GIRLS DON'T GAMBLE" coming here tomorrow, with David Butler superintending the unique role of James Fisher. In the last reel the fifth to be precise, an incident which will cost the patrons of the theatre to be outthrilled was accomplished at the cost of approximately $16,000.

Two scenes or "shots" calls for the clashing of two huge auto trucks and their subsequent demolition. To achieve this bit of realism the producers had to purchase two new cars, put a premium for their speedy delivery. While an earlier scene embraces another car in the process of demolition, all told the item that may be charged against our service is a trifling sum of $25,000.

Still another item of more than significant expense may be added to the cost of production. This concerns an artistic piece of statuary used for comely effect. To produce the proper touch of realism, this statue was not faked, but the genuine thing secured from an artist of world repute in the Middle West. In this the director calls for the chopping off the nose from the beautiful marble features. To replace it again is out of the question. And again may be added to the growing but incomplete total an item around $5,000.

ROBERTSON-COLE presents MAE MARSH in "THE LITTLE FRAUD LADY"

FROM A NOVEL BY MARJORIE BENTON COOKE

For Its Attraction Two Nights Closing Tonight, The Exhibit Theatre Announces The Screen Return of the Petite Whimsical Star Mae Marsh in "The Little 'Fraud Lady'—Everybody Is Waiting To See Mae Marsh And In This Picture She Is At Her Best—Don't Miss It.

A delightful combination of comedy, pathos and drama as was ever filmed, is "The Little 'Fraud Lady,'" the new Robertson-Cole super-sensational picture starring Mae Marsh, which will be shown at the Exhibit Theatre closing tonight.

This unusual story, which brings Miss Marsh back to the screen after a long absence, was adapted to the silver screen from Marjorie Benton Cooke's popular novel, "The Girl Who Lived in the Woods." The quality of the production is further assured with the knowledge that it was directed by John G. Adolfi.

"The Little 'Fraud Lady'" carries the audience through the most outlandish of the far west into the busy marts of trade and a Greenwich Village atmosphere. Mae Marsh, giving one of her very best portrayals, is seen as a young girl of many moods who has more than her share of the adventures that ordinarily come to the individual. In order to show this talented actress at her best, great care was taken in the selection of story, the cast, the settings and the entire production in general.

Miss Marsh is shown as a little "city" girl who has been disillusioned with regard to the world and its charity in general and has sought the solitude of the wild country to develop her talent as an artist. The individual who is directly responsible for the disillusion is one of the closest of kin to the "little 'fraud lady'."

Cultivating Personality.

Everyone tries to be clever, to cultivate individuality nowadays, forgetting to look inwardly first to see if there is anything of special originality to cultivate. A girl may, indeed, consider it good fortune if she finds that there isn't anything special, that she will make just the ordinary, normal woman, with an illogical fondness for home, husband and children. It is really more original to be a domestic woman today than to be a pronounced specimen of any other type.

The Rule in Texas.

Maybe you also have noticed that when a woman is raising seven children her favorite dog is a dead one—Dallas News.

Lincoln Tonight, Double Bill, Edith Roberts in a Special Feature. Also Helen Holmes in "The Tiger Band Series."

Edith Roberts, the likable Universal special feature photo play star, is here tonight in one of Universal's latest and best feature attractions. Besides these five reels there will be another chapter of that thrilling railroad drama, "The Tiger Band Series," with Helen Holmes as the heroine and star. This serial is causing more favorable comment than any chapter play exhibited at the Lincoln for months. See it here every Thursday night.

Our buyers were successful in securing 68,000 yards of the finest worsteds we have been fortunate enough to display in the entire history of our organization.

Among them are about 12,000 yards of very fine plain and fancy serges, imported from England, woven of two-ply No. 50 yarn, spun from half blood Australian wool and weighing from 10½ to 13 oz. per yard.

Also, 15,000 yards of silk mixture and silk hair line worsteds, from the same kind of yarn, but woven in one of the finest mills in America.

The balance are very fine fancy worsteds in plaids, checks, and stripes, with silk decorations and beautifully combined colors, from which we will produce garments, the like of which cannot be excelled in this country at any price.

SERRA AND SHEPARD TOPPING OFF TRAINING

Joe Serra of Columbus and Jack Shepard are topping off their strenuous training for their ten round bout in the Auditorium here next Monday night. They will be in the best possible condition and should put up a sterling battle. Serra will arrive here Saturday from Columbus and Shepard will arrive Sunday from Cincinnati. The bout will include an eight round semi-final between Joe Brown and Columbus and Bill Fortner of this city, which should be a snapper as both pack a mean kick.

Just expect this encounter to be fully as good as the main go. Then there will be two prelims: one round out a corking boxing show. The promoters are banking on an attendance of 1,000. They should not be disappointed.

U. B. Team Wins

To Convert Auditorium Into Athletic Hall

The Portsmouth Athletic Club has made arrangements to make radical changes in the Auditorium Gallia and Bond streets.

Work will be started early next week putting in baskets for a basketball court. Seats will also be erected on the sides of the dance floor which will give basketball fans the biggest court in the city to stake their games without playing in the high school gym. A crowd of a thousand people can be easily taken care of in the Auditorium. Plans are also being made to stage the volleyball games in this place.

The seats to be erected will also come in handy for the boxing matches that will be staged in the hall.

The Winchester high school basketball five claims to have broken the world's record for consecutive basketball victories, for it class high school teams. By defeating McArthur Tuesday night the Winchester quintet won the championship of the B class South.

Selby's Bowling League

Six games were rolled in the Selby Bowling league last night. The Rounders won two out of three from the Ink Slingers while the Butchers dropped two out of three to the Turners.

The Ink Slingers dropped the first game by more than 100 plus but came back stronger and managed to win the third game, the Rounders falling down in the third contest after rolling their best in the first two games. The Rounders grabbed the first game from the Turners and then dropped two, Turners and Scott being the big men for the winners. The scores:

Pittsburg Fans To Honor Grand Old Honus Wagner

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 24—Baseball celebrities old and young, will gather around a table here tonight, in the center of which will be a large statue, in commemoration of the forty-seventh birthday of John Henry "Honus" Wagner, who for many years captained the mid-section here during third and second bases for the Pittsburg Pirates.

The celebration in honor of the "Stove League," whose aim is to keep the interest in baseball at a high pitch the year round.

Invitations were extended to Judge Landis to attend, but he has sent a letter to the committee stating that it will be impossible for him to attend.

The Babe Ruth also sent a similar letter.

Alumni Team Is Defeated

In the Sciotoville high school gym last night the high school girls' basketball five won a 21 to 1 game from the Alumni-Mummi five. The first half ended 12 to 0 in favor of the high school girls who played rings around their opponents. Oetta Snyder, who was expected to score as many baskets as she pleased was kept well covered by the high school guards and she only got one basket. Moore was the star pointer for the winners making half of the 21 scores. The lineup: S. H. S. F. A. Belmont, RF, Snyder, LF, Moore, C, Thompson, Ch, Brown, G, Brown, G, Brown, G, Brown, G.

Subs: Wadden for Shan, Parry for Kent.

Field Goals—Moore 6, Halstead 3, Belmont 3, Widders 1, Snyder 1. Reference—A. Kent.

Leonard Vs. Welling Tonight

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 23—Henry Leonard, the light-weight champion and Joe Welling, of Chicago, had rounded out their training program and were resting today for their second meeting, an eight round no-decision bout here tonight.

Arrangements for the match were completed yesterday with the selection of Walter Heiser, of St. Louis, as referee.

James "Slim" Brennan had been brought here by Leonard and his manager Billy Gibson, to handle the bout.

The latter stating he wanted to protect the title-holder's interests to the extent of insuring the presence of a capable official.

Following a conference with local men, however, Gibson stated he was satisfied with Heiser.

Both Leonard and Welling have confined their training activities to light gymnasium work since arriving here Tuesday, and announced they are in shape for the contest.

BLAMED ERROR ON HIS NEW GLOVE

Some years ago Harry Hooper right fielder of the Boston Red Sox, purchased a new glove and used it during a part of the world's series with the Giants. In one of the games he dropped a fly ball of the kind he usually ate alive.

On his return to the bench Manager Jake Stahl asked him how he came to make the error, and Hooper's excuse was that he had been wearing a new glove.

This was related, later in a hotel, one of the players laughingly said: "Just think of Hooper breaking in a new mitt in a world's series game."

"Well," remarked Ping Bodie who happened to be one of the group, "he had to break it in some time, didn't he?"

Will Not Peddle Pitcher Pfeffer

Uncle Wilbert Robinson, of the Dodgers, has effectively squashed reports that he might trade Pitcher Ed Pfeffer for Catcher Migue Gonzales of the Giants or Catcher Hank Gowdy of the Braves. He will stick to his policy of preserving the full strength of his pitching staff at all costs. He thinks Walter (Dutch) Hooten, southpaw, obtained from Cincinnati in the trade for Luke Marquardt, will have a big year.

Uncle Hooten will request Manager Miller Huggins to use recruit outfielders in the last few innings of the sixteen games the Superbas will play with the New York Yankees this spring, and Uncle will do the same.

Left This Afternoon

Thursday afternoon the Sciotoville high school boys' basketball team, accompanied by Coach Miller left for Athens, where they will take part in the Southeastern Ohio tournament. S. H. S. was represented at the tournament in 1919 and won from Logan by a score of 10 to 9, while two other games were lost to John Hancock and Williamstown by close scores. The lineup is entirely new this year and the team has played Ashland, Ironton, Portsmouth, and other towns included in the Scioto County league and has suffered defeat only twice. The boys of the blue and gray feel confident that they will be able to meet any brand of basketball that is played against them.

Stedman and Powell will play at forward, Brown and Courtney at guard, Edwards at center, and Wintges and Brock will be used as subs. The team will probably return to Sciotoville Sunday on the N. & W.

THE FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY

PROPOS of his anniversary Tuesday, we have been reading up a bit on "The Father of His Country", the immortal George Washington, and it pleases us much to be confirmed in the belief that the George Washington we were always taught in school was a superhuman creature, a sort of a goody-good being, wasn't really that at all, but just "a regular fellow," tempted as other mortals and not altogether a stranger to their faults and follies.

Why the man could even swear "like a trooper", when he got deeply roiled and there is more than tradition to countenance the tale that when General Charles Lee made his disgraceful retreat before the battle of Monmouth, Father George "cussed" him until the leaves on the trees about actually curled. Then he rode his charger to death in furious reaching and rallying of the lines.

Then he played cards, thought decks by the dozen and in one of his methodical accounts is found an entry where he lost eight shillings on the game. He drank indiscriminately rum, wine, beer and brandy, but ever in moderation and was fond of sports generally, especially fishing, horse-racing and hunting and he imported fine stock and his peck hounds were famous. Daunting was a favorite amusement with him and he dressed most elegantly, being fastidious, even to the point of finicky, about the fit and style of his clothing.

And in another and a bigger way George Washington was an entirely different man from the estimate school history puts on him. He deserves all the glory given him for his successful conduct of the revolution and he was most admirable for his rigid truthfulness and sturdy uprightness, but he was a far greater statesman than he was a soldier. Jefferson outranks him here in popular esteem, but the truth is George Washington knew and felt the freedom and liberty than all the revolutionary fathers combined. They wanted freedom for themselves and independence for the country, that they might have that freedom, but George Washington wanted freedom and equality for all men. He was utterly devoid of the passions, prejudices and superstition of the times and he gave the broadest exposition of liberty and the surest lines upon which this country should be conducted of any political prophet that ever wrote.

MAN'S WARDROBE

(Los Angeles Times)

ONE of the leading tailors of the national association says that it is still possible for a man to dress tastefully and well on $1,200 a year. But, of course, he must have a good start on his wardrobe. That will enable him to keep it up. The old-time newspaper man who boasted when he had an extra pair of trousers is not considered in this reckoning. Neither is that part of the West where a man who owned two pairs of suspenders was called a d-d dude. But anybody is willing to concede that it is harder for a man to worry through the year on $1,200 worth of raiment than it was a few years back. The price of needles and thread has advanced 75 per cent at least.

Mr. Harding seems to know the proprieties and follow them. As the office of secretary of state is the first of all the cabinet positions it was right its prospective incumbent should be first announced, but after doing that the president-elect gives out the name of the next attorney general, his campaign manager, and with this graceful compliment acknowledges his obligation to him.

Politics of the peanut brand usually turns out to be a shell game.

A modern statesman is a politician who is able to get away with the bluff.

There is yet hope—overall factories are said to be starting up on a moderate time.

Who can remember when the "back to the farm" movement would attract some attention?

Most persons would rather owe a debt of gratitude than to have a note coming due at the bank.

A man may not thump you for telling him the truth about himself, but it is not often he will thank you if it is the truth.

The average woman probably earns about all the money she is able to snitch from the pockets of the average husband.

Judging from the prices forecast on shoes for this year, they must be making them out of news print instead of hides.

The next generation will probably be too busy with its own affairs to ask present-day bandits and bootleggers how they got their start.

The man who has money in the bank instead of having a note come due is doubly fortunate.

The Soldier And His Girl

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 24.—Two hundred and fifty pretty girls, properly chaperoned, are delivered by rail every Saturday at Camp Dix, New Jersey. The soldiers, the girls, and all others concerned hope that these weekly importations can be not only continued but increased. For there are some 10,000 soldiers at Camp Dix, and they bank the gymnasium 10 deep when the girls arrive, each seeking what is so hard for an enlisted man far from home, to get—the companionship of a nice girl.

This movement to supply the army with girls is a new thing, and it is in a critical stage. The work is being carried on through an army organization known as the Bureau of Women's Relations. This bureau establishes a club, or perhaps several of them, in each of the camps which are occupied by our standing army. Each club is in charge of a woman whose duty it is to provide the men with entertainment by giving dances and parties. The soldiers may bring their women friends and relations, if they have any, and if not the hostess provides the girls. The work is immensely popular with the men and also with their commanding officers. Generals Wood, Edwards, and many others have endorsed the work, and even called it indispensable.

Their endorsements are needed, because the work cannot go on unless congress appropriates at least $200,000 for the purpose. It is a small amount, but small items are just the ones that congress likes to prune out of an appropriation bill. Hence the army is conducting a vigorous propaganda to convince congress and the people that this Bureau of Women's Relations, which is now being carried on with left-over war time contributions, ought to be made a permanent part of the army. And their propaganda brings out some interesting facts about our peace time army, and about soldiers and girls.

A Student Army
The first fact pointed out by Miss Phipps, who is one of the women leading the work, is that our present army is an army of boys, who have enlisted for the purpose of getting an education. There are exceptions, of course. The veteran "hard-boiled" is still a figure in the army. But the great majority of the enlisted men are boys from 19 to 22 years of age, who have been attracted by the widely advertised educational opportunities which the army is now offering. These, in a word, are boys of college age, who could not afford a college education, and have joined the army instead. Many of them are young men who want education in mechanical and engineering lines. Many of them are young immigrants who want to learn the language and the history of their new country.

The point made by the army—as represented by Miss Phipps—is that in advertising itself as an educational opportunity, and thereby getting the services of a lot of ambitious young men of the most formative age, the army has assumed a new and heavy responsibility. Those boys are going to be what the army makes them. And probably no one will deny that the kind of feminine society they enjoy is one important factor in their making.

The commanding officers, while fully aware of this large, humanitarian view of the subject, are compelled to consider the practical phase of the matter first. They are primarily concerned with the effect of this hostess work on the morale of their commands, and it is from this standpoint that they endorse it. Work of this kind both during the war and since has shown that if soldiers are provided with a normal social life—an opportunity to associate with girls in dances and other gatherings under proper supervision—two great military evils are markedly reduced. These two great evils are venereal disease and absence without leave. The soldier who falls into feminine company of a sort which endangers his health often does so because it is the only kind of feminine company he can find. And the soldier who runs away from camp without leave usually does so because he can no longer endure the monotony and unnaturalness of a social life in which a lot of men are herded together without women.

Social Life Saves Money
The hard-headed, practical executives of the army therefore favor hostesses and dances and all that sort of thing because they save money in hospital costs and in time lost by men through inactivity and absence. The argument which has been made by some objectors that our soldiers should not be coddled and that pink teas are not necessary for fighting men, seems to them irrelevant. They do not care whether you call it coddling or not as long as the result is a gain in practical efficiency.

At Camp Dix, in addition to establishing a hostess house and importing a bevy of girls every Saturday from Philadelphia, and smaller berles on other days from neighboring towns, the bureau has also arranged a unique club in Philadelphia for men from Camp Dix who are on leave. In several ways they have been assisted by their women prominent in Philadelphia society. Mrs. George W. Drexel has taken charge of the work and Mrs. Hapgood has given a large residence to be the home of the club. This club is capable of taking care of from 100 to 100 men, which is about all the enlisted men that are to be found in Philadelphia from Camp Dix at a given time. These men certainly are puzzled if you want to call it that, to judge by all reports. Quartered in one of the finest residences of the city, they are taken to dances, movies and the theater; they are introduced to pretty girls; they are, in a word, treated as guests at a house party.

One result is that they have a good time and decide that being in the army has its compensations, even if it is a life of much restraint. Another result is that they drink no wood alcohol, get into no fights and fall into the clutches of no vampires.

On the whole, the idea that a soldier should not be shown a good time seems to fall to the ground. Especially when you remember that a soldier of the new American army is a young chap, just up from the country, avid of life and knowledge, giving himself for three years to his government and trusting it for everything.

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Portsmouth Daily Times, c/o Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This office applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How many different kinds of Indians are there near Oklahoma City? A. M. D.

A. The Bureau of Ethnology says that there are Indians of at least 40 tribes in or near Oklahoma City.

Q. How does the strength of our Army compare with that of Abyssinia? K. N.

A. The peace strength of the Army of Abyssinia is 250,000 men. Under the reorganization of the United States Army our peace strength is 175,000 men.

Q. In making out income tax return for 1920, am I required to report the salary received by my wife, prior to July 1, the month in which we were married? E. W. B.

A. When filing income tax return, you may include therein any salary earned by your wife during the year, or you may make out a separate return.

Q. How far is it from Philadelphia to San Francisco by road? C. W.

A. The American Automobile Association says that the distance between Philadelphia and San Francisco by the Lincoln Highway is 3,100 miles. There is a shorter route which is 2,950 miles, but there is so much construction being done at present on all roads that no direct route could be taken and the average distance would be 3,000 miles.

Q. How did the term bootlegging originate? S. E. A.

A. The term bootlegging originated in the South, when it was the habit of moonshiners making illicit liquor to carry the same in bottles tucked into the sides of boot boots which were then carried universally worn by the moonshiners.

Q. How are whales caught? K. F.

A. Whales are caught by shooting with a combined harpoon and bomb fired from a special gun mounted at the bow of a steamer.

Q. Are pearls sold by weight? E. N. C.

A. Pearls are not sold by weight for the reason that in matching them, size and color are the most important factors.

Q. Can you tell me the legend of the so-called lucky stones? A. E. G.

A. The legend of the Lucky Stones is that many centuries ago in the Blue Ridge Mountains a band of fairies were visiting one of these little crosses, which were tokens of good luck which they carry with them on their travels through the world. On the day of the crucifixion, however, the grief of these fairies was so intense that they left the earth and the stones of their labors, and have never been seen since. Many people, however, still find the little crosses, near the scene of the fairies' labors.

Your Wife's Name

"The husband and wife," says Blackstone, "are one person in law." They are also one in family name, and have been "from time immemorial," a law encyclopedia tells us. But now comes a new little group (to be added to the multitude of other little groups seeking changes in this, that and the other established institution) and demands that the wife shall no longer take her husband's surname, but retain that of her father. It calls itself "The Woman Pays Club," its habitat is New York, and it is composed of self-supporting women, some married and some single. It declares "no woman is legally bound to be known by her husband's name," and that "the woman's maiden name stands fully for her individuality," which is "diminished when she merges her identity into that of her husband." We leave this proposal to moralists and students of feminine trends, while we say a word about names.

"What's in a name?" cried the enamored Juliet, "a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." But would it? Names, like Topsy, just grew. It was in the reign of Edward IV in the fifteenth century, that surnames were legally required in England. They "grew" from Christian names, from occupations, from localities, and from relationships. John the smith became John Smith, William the miller became William Taylor, John Smith's son became Johnson, William Taylor's son became Williamson. The "X" names, says an authority, added Fitz to the father's Christian name to distinguish the son. Thus Herbert and Gerald's sons became Fitzherbert and Fitzgerald, just as Mac was added in Ireland and Scotland, with a prefix O to distinguish grandsons. Other surnames grew for other reasons. Brown John and white John became John Brown and John White. Various attributes and physical characteristics became family names, such as Little Strong, Stout, Gray, Wiley, Fox, Wolf, Martin and Swan. These names and thousands of others came in response to legal requirements.

Just when married women were first legally required to take the family names of their husbands we have been unable to learn; nor do we know whether church or state first decreed it. We would welcome information on the subject. But mistresses, from whence the common abbreviation Mrs. denotes a married woman, primarily means one in control of a household. It is no misnomer.

It will be odd, will it not, when The Woman Pays Club changes customs so that when Mr. White and Miss Brown marry they will be known as Mr. White and Mrs. Brown?

Musical Cops
(A movement is afoot to teach New York policemen to sing.)—News Item.

A man of much tenacity
And utmost perspicacity
Once had the wild audacity
To teach some cops to sing.

And they with much impunity
Well knowing their immunity
Went forth in the community
To make the welkin ring.

They sang a woeful aria
Of desolate Bulgaria
And Swiss Cheese and Malaria
In five assorted keys.

And while together they did roar
And spill grand operas by the score
Some voices ransacked a jewelry store
With much dispatch and cast.

One On The Manager
A cinema man stopped in the lobby of a theatre at nine o'clock or so the other night to chat with the manager. The two men soon got to arguing about the respective merits of the cinema and the legitimate theater.

"All this here talk about the films' superiority," the manager said finally, "makes me sick. The films ain't harmful me none. I'm doin' the best business I ever did."

Just then a little boy darted out of the auditorium. He was blubbering softly.

"Say, mister, gimme no money back, will ye?" he said to the manager. "I'm skeered, sitting in there all alone."

Why Not?
A goodly soul once wrote a poem
About some doughnut holes;
An awe-inspiring work of art,
That thrilled our very souls;

We wish not to appear unkind
Or dole out any knooks.

BUT
If holes are so important,
Why not write of undrained socks?

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—At night when the torch of Liberty glows through the mists like the twin lights of Navesink and the magic skyline is engulfed in shadows, the tip ends of Manhattan Island become as quiet and peaceful as the countryside. On the upper end the crying of children, the shrill cry of the hickster, the rattle of wagons and roar of traffic stills. Wall, Broad and Fifth streets are endless deserted streets with the peaceful spire of Trinity in the relief.

It is in the center of the island that life becomes a seething cauldron—erupting fire and light, cursing chauffeurs, giddy maidens and fleshy Xogis in a dizzy whirl. While uptown New York walks quietly home from vestal prayers, the Tenderloin crowds begin the pilgrimage to their midnight mecca.

I always used to think of New York as a hurrying topsy tury town with a feverish population scurrying to the call of vice. It is a welcome relief to find that the majority of the people are as far removed from the hysteria of night life as the blindest hamlet at an Iowa cross roads.

I know a man who has lived here all his life. He is not a fossil. And he works in the world of Wall Street's liveliest section. Yet he has been on Broadway at midnight but twice in his life. He has raised a fine family and sent his children off to college.

Once a week his recreation is attendance at a Bible Church dinner in the basement of his church. He gives 20 percent of his salary to charity. That is one type of busy New Yorker and there are thousands like him. There are just as many who have never been to an afternoon tea nor played a rubber of bridge.

They are simply kindly folk who are labeled by the complexities of a great city which makes its gay and frivolous seem representative of the entire population. It is the degrading section of New York, like the phosphorescent fish, that gives off the glow and gives efficiency of vice. Even the lowly and the East Side teen with virtues despite its poverty and army of derelicts.

All of which was inspired by a halt and earnest and half joking remark of a friend of mine who lives in the middle west and wanted to know when he saw me if I did not carry a flask. When I denied the gentle imputation he said in surprise: "Why, I thought every man and woman in New York carried a flask."

The poor newspaper photographer! Some one is always chasing him up a tree, so to speak. The latest burst of indignation aimed at him came from young Kingdon Gould who appeared in court to defend a breach of promise suit. When the flash light flashed, Gould made a dash for the camera. Then Gould waited in a rage for him at the entrance. But there was more than one entrance and while Gould waited the photographer was in his dark room making his pretty picture.

The most unusual line in the "Tavern," the serio comic melodrama, is "What's all the shootin' fer?" The phrase has become a popular one in almost every circle. It is quite astounding how it may be applied with a humorous effect—especially upon those who have seen the show.

Two Broadway publicity men had hunched together at the Astor the other day. At the conclusion there was the customary struggle for the check. As the winner paid it he said grudgingly: "I don't see why you tried your finger nails so close. You don't seem ever to be able to pick up a check."

9 DEPARTMENTS WITH DIRECTORS PLANNED

COLUMBUS, O., February 24.—The administration bill providing for reorganization of state departments, an outline of which was made public yesterday, will be ready for introduction in the legislature early next week before recess is taken over the presidential inauguration. The bill now is practically ready for introduction, it is said.

As outlined in a statement issued by Governor Davis and the joint reorganization committee of the legislature, present departments, boards and commissions will be merged into nine departments, finance, commerce, public works, agriculture, health, industrial relations, examinations, education and public welfare. Boards and departments having similar duties are merged under the appropriate department.

Over each of the nine departments is to be a director, appointed by the governor, whose term of office shall be co-extensive with that of the chief executive. He will be subject to removal by the governor at will. Each director may appoint, subject to the governor's approval, advisory boards, but with no authority of administrative character.

Each division is to have two or more departments, presided over by a chief appointed by the director and removable at the pleasure of the director. Each director may have an assistant assigned to specific duties. The number of divisions within a department is to be kept to the minimum.

Salaries of heads of proposed departments and chiefs of divisions are not mentioned in the outline.

Duties now devolving upon elective officials, secretary of state, attorney general, auditor and treasurer, are not to be interfered with except in a few instances, where some activity is given to some one of the new departments or an activity of one of the present departments added.

The state tax commission, public utilities commission and the industrial commission are to remain as constituted, but will exercise only their quasi-judicial functions, their administrative features being transferred to one or another of the proposed new departments.

The department of finance would handle all budgetary matters and assume the administrative features of the tax commission.

The commerce department would handle the duties of the present department of public instruction with enlarged duties. He would be made a director of all the state universities as well as other functions. The duties of the state geologist would be transferred to him.

The public welfare department would take over the board of administration and the board of clemency. The state securities department would be transferred to the secretary of state, excepting the chattel loan division, which would go to the department of commerce.

The department of soldiers' claims would be abolished, the work being transferred to the adjutant general. The agricultural experiment station also would be placed under control of Ohio State University.

The department of education will handle the duties of the present superintendent of public instruction with enlarged duties. He would be made a director of all the state universities as well as other functions. The duties of the state geologist would be transferred to him.
